JFK ACTS TO HALT STRIKE

—NIK'S REBUTTAL SIZZLES—
Red China Told To Get Into Line

Berlin (AP) — Premier Khrushchev warned the balky Communist Chinese Wednesday to get into line with the rest of the Red world and accept Moscow's blue print for expansion if they want to remain in the Soviet camp.

In a highly emotional speech before a gathering of communist leaders from 70 countries, the Soviet leader delivered a sizzling rebuttal of Peking charges that he knuckled under in fear of the nuclear might of the United States.

Declaring that his policies averted war and saved communism in Cuba, Khrushchev outlined the horrors of a nuclear conflict between the United States and the Soviet Union. He declared that the United States could loose a storm of 40,000 atomic and nuclear warheads capable of obliterating whole nations.

So Powerful

In turn, he said the Soviet 100-megaton bomb was so powerful it could be used only on overseas targets, for if dropped in Western Europe it would hit back at communist bloc nations. By overseas targets he presumably meant the United States.

Ranging freely over the international scene, Khrushchev again called for West Berlin to be turned into a free city under U.N. guarantees. Western garrisons could remain for a time. He asserted the communists did not need West Berlin now that it was sealed off by the Red wall.

The premier called for a German peace treaty that "will not bring gains to one side and losses to the other." But at the same time he predicted communism some day will triumph throughout divided Germany.

Pleading

At times Khrushchev was pleading, at times threatening, in his address to 2,500 delegates and guests at the East German Party Congress in East Berlin.

His 2½ hour speech was, on the whole, an elaborate defense of his policies and his claim to leadership of the communist world, which now appears challenged by China's Mao Tze-tung.

Not once did Khrushchev mention the Red Chinese by name, but there was no mistaking whom he meant by "some people" when he tore into those sharing the views of the Albanian communist leaders.

Rejected

Khrushchev tartly rejected Red China's demand for a top-level meeting of world Red leaders to thrash out the Peking-Moscow differences on how world communist domination should be achieved. That will come said Khrushchev, only when the Chinese decide to stop calling names and get down to brass tacks. He put it this way:

"Some say one should call a meeting of all fraternal parties to settle our differences. It would, if called immediately, not lead to a settlement of differences, but heat up the arguments. I think, in the interest of the working class, one should first stop the polemics in the press and then later meet and discuss matters."

Khrushchev begged for unity, but his speech seemed likely to widen the rift.

The low-level Chinese delegates listened with frozen faces and stolidly avoided applauding him. They were likely to be more angry than ever, since Khrushchev also went out of his way to say kind things about the Yugoslav communists, outcasts from the Red world during Stalin's time and the targets of Red Chinese attacks as "arch-revisionists."

Judge: Cuban Is Not Immune
. . . IN U.N. DELEGATION

New York (AP) — In a rare test, a court ruled Wednesday that occupying a seat in a United Nations delegation does not in itself entitle a person to diplomatic immunity under U.S. law.

The decision came in the case of a member of the Cuban U.N. mission, Robert Santiesteban Casanova, 28, charged with conspiracy to commit espionage.

Federal District Judge Edward Weinfeld said Santiesteban Casanova has status here only with the United Nations, and is not accredited to the United States, and thus is without diplomatic refuge from prosecution.

Unprecedented

The ruling was regarded as unprecedented, although there were qualifying factors.

The ruling would not apply to ambassadors heading U.N. missions, since they automatically are accorded U.S. diplomatic status under a U.N. headquarters agreement with this country.

Santiesteban Casanova was arrested with two other men last Nov. 16, a month and a half after he arrived here Oct. 3. The FBI charges that he came "for the purpose of directing sabotage on behalf of the revolutionary government of Cuba."

Concealed

Concealed on the premises of his residence at the time of the arrest, the FBI said, were hand grenades, revolvers and various incendiary devices, all designed for acts of sabotage.

Santiesteban Casanova claimed he had diplomatic immunity from the charges, because of his position on the Cuban delegation.

Judge Weinfeld, probing a little-explored area, said U.S. constitutional and statutory provisions regarding diplomatic immunity "apply to diplomatic representatives accredited to the United States." He added the Cuban has no such standing with the U.S. government as a "public minister."

Not Envisaged

As for the United Nations, the judge said:

"International organizations which have come into full bloom only in the last several decades were not envisaged by the founding fathers; clearly it was not within their contemplation that staff members of missions to such international organizations were included within the term 'ambassadors and other public ministers'."

There was no immediate State Department reaction to the ruling.

NFO Will Hold Corn, Soybeans

Corning, Iowa (UPI) — A "lock the granary door" campaign aimed at keeping corn and soybeans off the market and putting the pinch on commercial feedlot operations was launched Wednesday by the National Farmers Organization (NFO).

"We are sending word to our 'minute men' and members throughout the grain belt urging them to do everything possible to keep corn and soybeans off the market," Oren Lee Staley, NFO president, said.

The Rea, Mo., farmer said this was the "psychological time" to impose an "all-out holding action" on grains.

"Our bargaining position on soybeans, especially, has been improving and the supply is getting tight," he said.

The NFO staged a 32-day holding action on livestock last fall. The market boycott has been in "recess" since Oct. 2 but nearly 5,000 delegates to the national convention in Des Moines last month authorized the board of directors to reinstate it "at the most opportune time."

Staley said operators of commercial feedlots were the "prime target" of the holding action on corn. By withholding corn from market, he said, commercial producers of market cattle will encounter "an increase in their costs of operation and production."

This, he contended, would aid the individual farmer by forcing the commercial producers to seek higher prices at the stockyards and this in turn would bring higher returns for the small producer.

"The holding action on grain fits into all other aspects of our bargaining program and will strengthen the NFO position on livestock," Staley said.

Tax-Exempt Property Bill Dies In Committee

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A bill which would have taxed exempt property owned by a tax-exempt organization if any portion of it were used for non-exempt purposes was killed Wednesday in committee.

The Legislature's Government and Military Affairs Committee axed the bill, LB12, on a 6-1 vote after heavy opposition to the measure erupted at a lenghty public hearing.

The committee agreed to hold for further study and possible amendment a proposal, LB11, which would provide for examination of all tax-exempt property by the state tax commissioner.

One Advanced

And, acting on the third bill before it, the legislative unit amended and advanced to the floor by a 7-0 count LB13, designed to assure the taxation of improvements on leased lands.

All 3 measures were introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

LB13 — amended to except railroads from its provisions when they meet statutory requirements to file maps which indicate property on their lands — attracted no opposition at the hearing.

The bill provides that those who own the leased land must report who owns improvements (largely buildings) on the land for taxation purposes, or pay the tax themselves.

It will help "flush out those people who lease land from others, erect buildings on it and fail to pay taxes on those improvements," Carpenter declared.

5-Year Exemptions

LB11 directs that in 1964 applications for all exemption from taxation on real property be submitted to the state tax commissioner for approval. Exemptions would be granted only for 5-year periods whereupon new applications would be required.

The bill provides for District Court appeal procedures.

Carpenter said the measure is aimed at providing uniformity in tax exemption and "to give equal consideration to those who do pay taxes and who must make up the difference."

Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln also endorsed the measure which is similar to LB29, which he has authored.

"We ought to plug some of the loopholes in the present tax system before we superimpose a new system on top of it," Stromer argued.

Pressures

Present tax exemption procedures place "social and political pressures" on elected county assessors, he noted, and the result has been "disparity in treatment."

For example, Stromer said, some counties tax ministers' cars while others do not.

LB12—which would have removed property from tax-exempt status if even a portion of it were used for non-exempt purposes—would "stop direct competition with those who do pay taxes," Carpenter argued.

Both LB11 and LB12 attracted opposition testimony from representatives of the Omaha Masonic Temple Assn., and the Omaha YMCA.

LB11 would remove government from local administration, create new bureaucracy, increase government costs, add to the burdens of tax-exempt organizations and confuse the issue, they contended.

Ralph Svoboda of Omaha, representing St. Joseph's Hospital, insisted it would represent "a public expression of mistrust of our county assessors."

William Hotz of Omaha, representing the Catholic Archdiocese, said present law and recent court decisions have already settled the issue.

Ak-Sar-Ben Opposed

LB12 was also attacked by representatives of Ak-Sar-Ben and the Nebraska Hospital Assn.

J. J. (Jake) Isaacson, executive director of Ak-Sar-Ben, said the bill would "lock up" his organization's plant and county fairgrounds to outside public activities.

Tax-exempt organizations already pay taxes on that portion of their property not used for exempt purposes, Bob Adams of the Omaha YMCA noted.

Frigid Blow Hits Northeast

By Associated Press

A massive cold wave that enveloped much of the nation for nearly a week landed a new frigid blow on the northeastern states Wednesday but eased its hold on parts of the midcontinent.

As the core of the cold air mass drifted eastward, cold records for the date were shattered in parts of New York State and the mercury shriveled to deep freeze levels in northern New England.

Despite some moderation in parts of the Midwest, early morning temperatures were mostly below the zero mark from eastern Montana into New England.

Blankets U.S.

And freezing weather blanketed the nation except for a narrow band along the Gulf Coast, the Rio Grande valley, southern Georgia, Florida, the coastal area of southern California and Washington State.

Buffalo reported a record low temperature for the date of -9 degrees. Rochester, N.Y., had a record low for the date of -6.

Saranac Lake, N.Y., had a low of -29; Boonville, N.Y., in the Adirondack foothills, -20; Greenville, Maine, -20; Montpelier, Vt., -19, and Lebanon, N.H., -17.

The cold wave hit eastern Montana a week ago and spread across the country Parts of the Midwest had their coldest weather in more than a decade. The cold and accompanynig snow in some sections was blamed for 60 deaths from asphyxiation, exposure, fires, and traffic accidents. Crop losses in southern California and southern Texas ran into the millions of dollars.

Highest Levels

Temperatures in North Dakota rose to their highest levels in a week. A switch from northerly to westerly winds brought some relief and Minot, N.D., recorded its first above zero reading in 7 days.

However, International Falls, Minn., had a noon reading Wednesday of -7 degrees and the Imperial Valley of California had its fourth day of freezing weather in a row. Black River Falls, Wis., was the nation's coldest spot with an early morning reading of -38.

In contrast, midday readings pushed into the mid 50s and warm 60s along the Gulf Coast and in the far Southwest. Southern Florida had 70-degree temperatures.

A forecast of slow moderation from the central and southern plains eastward to the Atlantic coast indicated the cold wave was losing its grip.

Tabs Peace Seeking Unit
. . . IN DOCK TIE-UP

Washington (AP)— President Kennedy appointed a special board headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore. Wednesday to make one more try at settling the East and Gulf Coast dock strike.

If this fails, the President indicated he will ask Congress to force an end to the walkout, which he said is "doing intolerable injury to the national welfare" and disrupting vital free world commerce.

Kennedy, acting swiftly after Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz reported a collapse of negotiations, asked Morse and two other experts in industrial - labor relations to go to New York Thursday to mediate the dispute.

Flying To N.Y.

Morse arranged to fly to New York early Wednesday morning with Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds. He will meet with his colleagues on the board at the Hotel Gotham on 5th Avenue in advance of a later meeting with representatives of the union and ship owners.

"I have never seen a labor case that could not be settled by good faith negotiation between the party litigants," the senator told reporters.

He said he accepted the appointment in a telephone conversation with Kennedy.

Expects Talks

Kennedy said he expects representatives of the striking AFL-CIO Longshoremen's Union and the New York Shipping Association, the operators' group, to meet with the board.

In New York, the longshoremen's chief negotiator, Thomas (Teddy) Gleason, said "we are ready for them" and added that union representatives were prepared to meet with the board Thursday.

The companies' counterpart, Alexander Chopin, said he had "nothing to say at this time."

"The point of public toleration of this situation has been passed," the President's statement said. "If this case cannot be settled by private action, then further public action is required."

Big Losses

With hundreds of ships immobilized in ports from Maine to Texas and more than 100,000 longshore and maritime workers idle, Kennedy said the 25-day-old shutdown is inflicting economic losses on the nation "at a rate of millions of dollars a day.

"Vital foreign aid and relief shipments are blocked," he said, and commerce "imperative to the economic well-being of the free world is disrupted."

Stevedores Must Move Bananas

New Orleans (UPI) — U.S. District Judge Frank B. Ellis Wednesday ordered 5 International Longshoremen's Association banana-handling locals to abide by an unsigned contract agreement and to unload vessels despite the general longshoremen's strike.

Attorneys for the 3 New Orleans and two Gulfport, Miss., union locals said they will ask the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals for a stay of Ellis's preliminary injunction. A hearing is scheduled at 9:30 a.m. (CST) Thursday.

Ellis issued his ruling after union attorney Seymour Waldman, of New York, accused the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) of trying to be "a strike - breaking agency."

The ruling prohibits ILA general cargo locals from picketing banana wharfs in the two ports. The judge ordered a return to working conditions in effect before the ILA began its Maine-to-Texas port strike Dec. 23.

Dock Strike Is Making Itself Felt With Increasing Weight

New York (AP)— The longshoremen's strike that has closed Atlantic and Gulf ports is making itself felt with increasing weight across the entire eastern half of the nation.

It's felt by Georgia carpetmakers running short of jute, eastern sugar refiners closing for want of raw material, New England garment factories that must look for replacement fiber or leather supplies, shipbuilders short of teak, and housewives unable to find bananas or fresh coconuts at the supermarket.

The economic impact is estimated at $25 million a day, for a total of some $600 million since the strike began Dec. 23.

Pressure

Its reverberations have helped build pressure for government intervention. When negotiations broke down Wednesday, federal mediators said they were handing the problem to the White House.

Some 500 ships are standing in 41 ports from Maine to Texas. About 60,000 members of the striking International Longshoremen's Union — and thousands of seamen — are idled. An estimated 15,000 railway boxcars are queued up at port cities, laden with cargo destined originally for freighter holds.

Some 771 of these freight cars are in Mobile, Ala., another 840 are sidetracked between Memphis and Mobile.

Capacity

Mobile grain elevators have been filled to capacity and there's room on docks and in warehouses for only another 10 days' volume of general cargo, dock officials say.

As days roll by, stockpiles that have generally minimized effects have dwindled. So far, consumers have been insulated from price hikes or shortages by strong inventories of most goods. Cocoa, coffee, sugar and other mass demand imports are ample for now, trade sources say. But it's only a matter of time before some would run short.

Shutdowns by eastern sugar refineries reflect the lack of grist for their mills. So far, said James B. Elliott of the American Sugar Refining Co., there's been no effect on consumer prices. Another few weeks could make a difference, however.

Surplus SOS Money Marked For Education

Surplus money from Sabin oral polio vaccine clinics will be earmarked for educational and civic purposes in Lincoln and Lancaster County, the Sabin Oral Sunday planning committee said late Wednesday.

The earmarked SOS surplus amounts to $22,796.03.

Wednesday evening the committee also allocated $3,000 to buy a caboose for the Children's Zoo train. It will have a sign hung on the rear saying SOS is the "end of polio."

Moreover, the committee said, it is studying proposals to put almost $20,000 into a revolving fund to make loans to local students in such fields as nursing, pharmacy and medicine.

"There is a growing need in Lincoln and Lancaster County for high-quality, well-educated health-care professionals," explained Dr. A. L. Smith Jr., SOS committee member.

"Details of this loan fund program will be announced at a later date," the past Lancaster County Medical Society president said.

The local SOS surplus, Dr. Smith observed, resulted from the tremendous amount of volunteer assistance we received at the SOS clincis, the volume purchase of the vaccine and the large number of people who turned out to take the vaccine" which "was distributed for just 25 cents per dose."

He said, "Lincoln was one of the first cities in the nation to offer the Sabin polio vaccine on a large scale, community-wide basis."

Brass Tacks Talks Slated

. . . ON KATANGA SURRENDER

Leopoldville, the Congo (AP)—Brass tacks talk on Katanga's surrender is due to start in Elisabethville Thursday, with peaceful entry of U.N. troops into Kolwezi as the most immediate issue.

The United Nations announced Wednesday it has received word through diplomatic channels that President Moise Tshombe will return to his capital from Kolwezi, his last stronghold, 150 miles northwest of Elisabethville.

Some U.N. official will meet him. A U.N. headquarters spokesman in New York said it probably will be George Sherry, No. 2 man of the Elisabethville staff. The chief U.N. representative, Eliud Mathu, is understood to be ill.

The first order of business, the spokesman said, will be the movement of U.N. troops into Kolwezi — the goal of a combat column that is still several dozen miles to the east. Then, he said, sessions can begin with Tshombe on steps to carry out Secretary-General U Thant's Congo reunification plan.

Congo Premier Cyrilla Adoula announced another move to restore civil ties between Elisabethville and Leopoldville.

He appointed ex-premier Joseph Ileo, 40, as resident minister for the Congo Central Government in Katanga.

Adoula instructed Ileo to maintain contacts with provincial institutions of Katanga and "facilitate the process of reintegration of the province into the republic."

Administration of the copper-rich region was assigned by Adoula last week to Francois Kalala, secretary-general of the central government's public administration ministry.

Diplomatic sources said the premier has not yet decided whether to accept Tshombe's invitation —extended when he announced the end to the secession Tuesday — to visit Tshombe in Elisabethville. However, Adoula reiterated a pledge of amnesty for the Katangans.

President Kennedy, in a letter to Adoula, expressed hope that all factions will "move with determination and understanding" to unify and revitalize the Congo.

U2 Pilot Granted Divorce

Milledgeville, Ga. (UPI) — A jury of 12 married men Wednesday granted former U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers a divorce from a wife he claimed was "habitually drunk."

Powers

The jury reached the verdict in less than an hour.

It awarded Powers' wife, Barbara, a $5,000 lump settlement, plus $500 for lawyer fees.

No provision was made for alimony.

The 33-year-old Powers, now a test pilot for Lockheed Aircraft Corporation in California, told the jurors Tuesday that "the only persons who ever mistreated me while I was in prison in Russia was my wife, Barbara."

He said he sometimes went as long as 45 days without a letter from her.

The few packages he received, he said, contained such "cheap magazines" that he had to request other reading matter.

He said the neglect reached such proportions that "even the Russians got worried."

Mrs. Powers, in a tearful appearance before the jurors, told another story.

She said imprisonment left her husband a changed man. She said he returned "void of all feeling" except bitterness toward her.

"All he wants is his money," she sobbed.

South Kasai Fight Fierce

Leopoldville, the Congo (AP) —Fierce fighting by Congolese tribesmen over the world's largest source of industrial diamonds has forced nuns from a Roman Catholic mission station in South Kasai to flee.

Their fate still is unknown, but they are believed to be heading for a nearby mission, according to news reaching the Catholic Dia news agency in Leopoldville.

Reports from travelers coming out of the ravaged area spoke of bitter factional fighting, burning villages and thousands of Congolese forced to take refuge in the bush.

"There are many dead, many dead, many dead," said an African priest as he stepped off the plane from Luluabourg, capital of the former province of Kasai, which has been carved into 5 new provinces.

Sophia's Role As Godmother Poked

Vatican City (AP)— Sophia Loren's real life role of godmother to her sister's baby—a granddaughter of Benito Mussolini — was criticized by the Vatican Wednesday as a violation of Roman Catholic canon law.

The priest who officiated at the christening also came under criticism for allowing the shapely Academy Award-winning actress to appear in an official role at the ceremony.

Miss Loren is facing bigamy charges as the outgrowth of her proxy marriage to movie producer Carlo Ponti who obtained a Mexican divorce from his first wife.

SOPHIA LOREN

Bans Sinners

Article 766 of Roman Catholic canon law bans "persons who behave in a sinful way, publicly and gravely" from standing as godmother or godfather at a christening.

Miss Loren's sister, Maria, is the wife of Il Duce's son, Romano Mussolini, a popular night club jazz pianist.

The young couple asked Miss Loren to act as godmother to their 2-week-old daughter, Alessandria Maria Romana Mussolini, last week.

Unauthorized

The Vicariat of Rome in a communique Wednesday said "no authorization was asked and moreover that it (authorization) could not be granted in view of . . . canon law."

The communique did not name Miss Loren but Vatican press office statement later said "it evidently referred to a baptism at which actress Sophia Loren was godmother."

The communique came 3 days after a leading Roman Catholic moral theologian, the Rt. Rev. Giovanni-Battista Guzzetti, criticized Miss Loren and the Rev. Virgiolio Rotondi, the priest who officiated at the christening.

How Come?

In an open letter to Father Rotondi in a Milan Catholic newspaper, the prelate said he could understand how Father Rotondi would have wanted to help Miss Loren "but I cannot understand how you could allow little Alessandria to be commited to the care and spiritual attention of the woman."

He told Father Rotondi, an old friend: "I prefer to think that you were the victim of a fall into one of those snares from which we never seem to be sufficiently safe, rather than to be convinced that you contributed, even though in good faith, to an increase in the number of the world's scandals."

Father Rotondi declined comment and Miss Loren was reported by her secretary to be in Paris.

Gantt Wins Appeal; Can Enter Clemson

Alexandria, Va. (AP)—Harvey B. Gantt won a federal court of appeals decision Wednesday directing his admission as the first Negro to all-white Clemson College.

South Carolina officials announced they will make a last ditch appeal to the Supreme Court.

The 4th Circuit Court of Appeals unanimously reversed Federal District Judge C. C. Wyche of South Carolina and directed him to order Gantt admitted to Clemson in the spring term which begins Feb. 1.

Not Race

Wyche ruled last month that the 20-year-old Negro had not proved he had been denied admission because of his race. Clemson contended that Gantt, an architectural student at Iowa State University, had not met its entrance requirements.

Gantt's attorneys argued that every time he complied with entrance requirements new ones were added.

They said it was no accident that South Carolina is now the only southern state which has not, either by court order or voluntarily, admitted Negro students to formerly all-white institutions of higher learning.

Discourage

Wyche said in his decision that it was the policy of South Carolina to discourage but not prohibit Negroes from enrolling in all-white institutions.

The appellate court commented, "the distinction drawn between prohibition and discouragement is a novel one in legal literature and we must hold it unacceptable."

In South Carolina, State Sen. Edgar A. Brown of Barnwell, a member of the Clemson board of trustees, said plans already have been made for an appeal to the supreme court.

Dirksen To Force Filibuster Decision

Washington (AP) — Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Wednesday he would force a showdown next week that could kill efforts to make it easier to shut off filibusters.

He told the Senate he would offer a motion within a week to table a pending motion by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., to take up a proposal which would permit filibusters to be halted by three-fifths of Senators voting.

The present rule requires a two-third majority to clamp a time limit on debate, a margin that has been attained only once in recent Senate history.

"It isn't going anywhere," Dirksen told newsmen, speaking of Anderson's proposal. "There is no steam for this thing.

"For myself I'm prepared to dispose of the whole issue."

Dirksen, thus lining up with southern senators who oppose the rule change, said the mounting fight over the anti-filibuster rule can't be allowed to continue if the Senate is to organize its committees and get to work on other legislation.

A motion to table is not debatable. If carried it would end the battle. But if defeated, opponents of the rules change could carry on their fight, and they have said they are ready to do so indefinitely.

The southerners favor the present rule because it permits virtually unlimited debate which can be used to block civil rights bills and other legislation they oppose.

Bill Seeks To Block Defense Site Strikes

Washington (AP)— Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., introduced bills Wednesday to outlaw strikes against defense facilities and to give the government a new weapon to deal with transport strikes such as the current East Coast-Gulf Coast dockers strike.

The defense facilities measure, McClellan told the Senate in a speech, would "prohibit strikes or other work stoppages at missile sites and other defense facilities." Compulsory arbitration of such labor disputes would be provided.

The other bill would make it unlawful under the antitrust laws for any labor union in the transportation field to strike or picket while "in concert with an employer . . . or any other labor union, even if it is a sister local" of its own national or international union.

McClellan said that under the bill's terms, the government or aggrieved parties could go to court for an injunction to halt the strike or picketing. Violations would be subject to penalties up to $50,000 fine and a year in prison.

The senator said the anti-trust injunction measure would be in addition to, but would not supplant, the 80-day "cooling off" injunctions now authorized by the Taft-Hartley Labor Law.

He said both bills were identical to measures he had offered unsuccessfully in 1961.

New Budget Expected To Call For $99 Billion

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy sends to Congress Thursday his new budget that is expected to call for an unprecedented $99 billion in spending.

Tied to his plan for tax cuts aimed at spurring the nation's economy, the budget is expected to recommend outlays exceeding federal income by more than $10 billion during the fiscal year starting next July 1.

This is likely to mean that both the budget and the administration's 3-year tax cutting program will run into trouble from members of Congress who insist that the budget ought to be balanced or nearly so.

Slice Receipts

The tax program, which Kennedy unveiled in his State of the Union message Monday without giving details, is expected to slice about $6 billion off tax receipts in the next fiscal year.

The President said his tax package is "a fiscally responsible program — the surest and soundest way of achieving in time a balanced budget in a balanced full employment economy." He spoke of "a manageable budgetary deficit."

Kennedy made a brief reference to the budget in his State of the Union message. He said the new budget will allow for "needed rises in defense, space and fixed interest charges." But he said it will hold "total expenditures for all other purposes below this year's level."

Reduction

To do this, the President said, he will call for the reduction or postponement "of many desirable programs," plus payroll and other economies.

As in most years of recent history, the biggest slice of the spending proposals will be for military defense programs. And some of the increase can be expected to be accounted for by the rapidly expanding space exploration program as America steps up its efforts to reach the planets.

$6.2 Million In Lincoln Channel Work Outlined

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Proposed Salt Creek channel improvements through Lincoln, estimated to cost $6.2 million, were outlined to the Salt-Wahoo Watershed District directors by Corps of Engineers representatives.

Local cost was estimated at $725,000, or approximately 12% of the $6.2 million total.

Norman Gau, Omaha District project engineer, said an alternative plan, using a flood control dam on Oak Creek, is being evaluated.

Cut Channel Work

This dam, for which cost estimates are not available, could reduce channel work cost by $2.5 million and increase flood protection on the lower reaches of Salt Creek, he said.

Channel work on Salt Creek, upstream from Oak Creek, is scheduled to start early next summer, pending higher echelon approval and right-of-way acquisition.

Improvements are planned through the metropolitan area from Pioneers Blvd. south of the city to the U.S. Hwy. 77 bridge on No. 56th, northeast of Lincoln.

Gau pointed out that bridges, particularly railroad bridges, were the main problem in the design of channel improvements.

"We had to develop a plan to move the water at a lower level, but a higher velocity," he said. "The bridge decks will be two feet above the flood profile."

Eight of the 17 bridges on the Salt must be modified and 4 of the 9 on Oak.

Participation Okayed

Major county bridge will be the Van Dorn bridge, estimated at $50,000. (The watershed directors approved 50% participation in the county's cost during a business meeting.)

Two 10th Street bridges (Oak and Salt) must be replaced, an estimated $225,000 local cost.

Main spans are adequate at all other bridges, except 4 railroad bridges that will be lengthened at federal cost.

Included in the $725,000 local cost estimate is some $125,000 representing a 4.3% land enhancement fee set by federal legislation.

The directors authorized the appointment of a special committee, to be named later, to negotiate with the city and county regarding possible participation in this cost item.

Increased Values

This fee reportedly represents increased land values afforded by the proposed flood protection and amortized on the basis of anticipated increased tax revenues to local government.

Gau said the areas along Salt Creek from Pioneers Blvd. to Havelock Ave. would have 100-year flood protection while those along Oak and South of Havelock Ave. would have 50-year flood protection.

Proposed channel work under the outlined plan:

—Salt Creek channel between Pioneers Blvd. and Haines Branch north of Van Dorn will be widened and shortened along the alignment of the existing overflow channel and additional levees constructed.

—The channel from Haines Branch to Middle Creek will be supplemented by additional levees but is otherwise adequate.

—The lower half-mile of Middle Creek will be straightened and tie-back levees added.

—The Salt channel from Middle Creek to Oak Creek will be widened and levees added in low places where needed.

—Tie-back levees will be constructed intermittently where needed along the lower two miles of Oak Creek.

—Other works include tie-back levees for Antelope Creek and Dead Man's Run and drainage structures to conduct local rainstorm runoff through the levees.

Right-of-way is estimated at 640 acres, but officials estimate all but 100 acres may presently be under the district's control.

Robert Crosby, the district's general counsel, said the district's reserve funds total $300,000, but said bonds may be necessary to get the district through the 3-year construction hump.

If bonds become necessary, he explained, the debt could be amortized during the ensuing 7-year period when district requirements are expected to level off and revenue become adequate under the authorized ¾-mill levy.

FARMER WITH WIFE IN PRISON SHOOTS SELF

Dyer, Tenn. (AP)—A farmer whose wife is serving a prison term for a $100,000 embezzlement shot himself to death Wednesday.

Sheriff Robert Pybas said the farmer, Hollan Holt, placed a .22-caliber rifle between his legs and fired a bullet into his forehead. The body was found by his mother-in-law, Mrs. W. A. Hopper, with whom he lived.

His wife, Mrs. Sabra Rachael Holt, 45, was sentenced last October to 12 years in federal prison on a charge of embezzling $100,000 from a savings and loan association. She had been a trusted employe of the association for 24 years.

Freedom Week Is Observed By Elks

Freedom Week, Jan. 14-19, is being observed by Lincoln Elks Lodge 80 to salute freedom of speech and the press, according to Warren Barth, exalted ruler.

"We think that in the struggle with communism, too much attention has been paid to what we are against and we are in danger of losing sight of what we are fighting for and why we are for it," Barth explained.

Frosty Temps For Cowpoke

She is helping her father and grandfather drive 550 black Angus cattle to market some 56 miles from the Frei ranch. Also lending a hand are Betty's twin sister, Bonnie, and brothers, John, 15, and Bud, 8. The drive began in 22 below zero temperatures.

Space Chiefs Plan Meeting

Washington (UPI) — U.S. and Soviet space leaders agreed Wednesday to meet in Rome in March to work out plans for American and Russian cooperation in space research.

The two nations had announced last December they would cooperate in weather satellite research, experiments with the Echo 2 communications satellite to be launched by the United States this year, and in a survey of the Earth's magnetic field.

Working groups will now be set up to carry out this program. Plans for specific projects will be discussed at the Rome meeting by Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) and Soviet academician A. A. Blagonravov.

Selection of the time and place of the meeting was made in an exchange of letters, just completed, between the two men.

Ice Mass Is Building Up In Lower Niagara

Niagara Falls, N.Y. (UPI; —A vast ice mass that could match historic jams in 1903, 1909, 1938 and 1955 Wednesday kept up its relentless building up in the Lower Niagara River.

During the past 24 hours ice and water has risen 6 feet off docks in the village of Lewiston and placed other boat buildings in danger of being swept away. The jam already has inflicted extensive damage to waterfront properties from Tonawanda to Lake Ontario.

The massive 1955 ice pileup resulted in losses in the millions of dollars. In 1938, ice ripped loose the old Honeymoon Bridge from its foundations.

Officials said ice in the Niagara River gorge has dropped 20 to 30 feet in the last 24 hours. During the high point Monday, ice was within 10 feet of the Rainbow Bridge and above the abutment of the old Honeymoon Bridge.

Authorities said ice has not blocked generating water intakes in the Upper Niagara River. Production at the $720 million Niagara Power Project, the largest in the Western world, has remained on schedule.

An innkeeper along the river shore in the village of Lewiston said, "Another big push will see the end of the riverside buildings and boathouses." He estimated that the water level near Lewiston is 10 to 15 feet above normal.

Oath Given First Negro Atty. General

Boston (AP)— Edward W. Brooke was sworn in Wednesday as attorney general of Massachusetts. He is the first Negro elected to that office in any state.

Gov. Endicott Peabody, a Democrat, administered the oath of office to Brooke, a Republican, before a crowd which taxes the capacity of the Massachusetts House Chamber.

The program was more ceremonial than customary qualification of state officers.

The governor and council, along with Brooke and 3 other officers who qualified, were escorted into the chamber by the legislative sergeant-at-arms, accompanied by a group of the governor's military aides in full uniform.

Brooke was the only Republican winning office in a Democratic sweep of statewide contests in the fall elections.

Ben Franklin Award To John Hay Whitney

London (AP)— The Royal Society of Arts Thursday announced the award of its Benjamin Franklin Medal to John Hay Whitney, former U.S. ambassador to Britain, for his work in British-American understanding.

The medal, instituted in 1956 to commemorate the 250th anniversary of Franklin's birth, is awarded to alternate years to citizens of Britain and the United States. Prince Philip is the society's president.

Burglars Take Change In Banks From House

Five savings banks containing some $60 in loose change were taken Wednesday night in burglary of the Bill Frank home, 224 No. 18th, police said.

The intruder entered the home by breaking a pane of glass in the front door, according to investigating Officers Dick Schneider and Al Maxey, and left by a rear door.

Hans Jensen Named State ASCS Chief

Hans Jensen of Aurora was named state chairman of the Agricultural Stablization and Conservation Service effective Wednesday, according to an announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

Jensen

Jensen, a former state senator and more recently northwest area director for ASCS, said he welcomed his new assignment and looked forward to working with crop producers toward improving farm income.

"I will do everything within my power to acquaint farmers with provisions of the 1963 wheat program, and I am confident that if farmers have the facts they will vote overwhelmingly in favor in the wheat referendum in June," Jensen said.

Redistricting Compromise

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Legislative redistricting proposals receiving the greatest consideration at the moment appear to involve a considerable compromise. Senators seem to have settled, at least in a majority, on use of a 20 per cent area factor and expansion of the Unicameral to 49 members. The additional six members would come two from Lancaster County, three from Douglas County and one from the northeastern part of Nebraska.

Battle Won, War Lost

One senator concerned with any possible metropolitan dominance of the Legislature remarked recently that those who favor area may have won the battle but lost the war. What he meant was that the use of area as a factor in redistricting was of little value to rural areas if it gave additional strength to the metropolitan areas. In one way of looking at the present situation, this senator has a point. Certainly, if Lincoln and Omaha gain five senators and the rest of the state gains one in any reshuffling of districts, these two metropolitan areas have made progress. A five-to-one edge in the expanded membership is strikingly greater than the 10-to-33 disadvantage that currently exists.

On final count, the split under terms of current thinking would be 15 to 34 which is a lot better than 10 to 33. However, it should be remembered first of all that such a plan is only in the talking stage and the final outcome could be something quite different.

Secondly, what might be called improvement is a long way from perfection. It is improvement to go from starvation to a crust of bread but it is real living to dig into a thick steak. The current redistricting plan is better than a crust of bread but it is somewhere between that and a full-course meal. There is a difference of more than 14,000 people between the least populous and most populous district under the proposal now being considered.

It is very doubtful that the situation would ever be improved any from this, in Lincoln's and Omaha's point of view. If this plan does not carry, the one that does will probably show a wider disparity between the least and most populated district, not a smaller spread. This 14,000-plus spread is even greater than the 12,067 difference that existed in the original Unicameral districts formed by the 1935 Legislature. The most populous districts under the new proposal are almost entirely in the eastern part of the state. In the area of the state east of a line roughly drawn north and south from the west side of Lancaster county are some 708,099 people represented by 22 senators under the proposed plan. West of that line are some 703,212 people represented by 27 senators.

Thus, senators in the eastern part of the state each represent approximately 6,000 more people than their colleagues from the western areas. Such figures, of course, are arbitrary in some respects but they do tend to show the basic human inequality that would still exist under terms of the best plan that has come out to date for reapportionment of the State Legislature. This is of no importance simply from a geographic point of view or because of any political overtones. The simple fact is that the needs and the philosophy of government that prevail in a metropolitan area may be quite different from that which is found in rural areas.

Because reapportionment gets down in specifics to a comparison of various areas of the state does not mean that these specifics constitute the sum and substance of the matter. These specifics are but a means, with the end involved something quite different. The end is not east against west nor metropolitan against rural areas but rather, each area and interest group achieving the objectives that are vital to its future growth and prosperity.

The question naturally arises as to why senators would settle for a 20 per cent area factor when the constitutional provision under which they are proceeding would permit application of a 30 per cent area factor. Undoubtedly, senators are looking at two things—finding a legal solution to the problem and one that is, also, of maximum equity.

In other words, senators would like a plan the courts could approve of since the issue is likely to be disposed of in the courts. And, senators themselves recognize the factual injustice of area as a dominant characteristic of representation. They have simply decided at this point that the 20 per cent factor represents a reasonable compromise with population as a basis. If the matter ends up in court, the judiciary will have to consider the principle and precedent involved as well as the results of their application.

Court Decision Likely

Thus, the court might say that the disparity of population among districts is not great enough to constitute a violation of individual rights to equal representation, regardless of the method used for establishing of districts. In other words, the state could establish districts by lot or throwing of dice if it so desired so long as minimum population spreads were maintained. Or, the court could say that the area precedent is a dangerous one, is a means not justified by the end and in fact is discriminatory as evidenced by the 14,000-plus difference in the least and most populated districts.

Sunday Closing Dead Issue

For the city government, the Sunday closing issue has become a dead one, at least for the time being. The City Council has chosen to repeal its Sunday closing law for businesses rather than submit it to a vote of the people—two of the choices open to it by virtue of referendum petitions.

Business groups which had originally backed the Sunday closing law—technically a Saturday or Sunday closing law—took no issue with the City Council action. Through a representative, they noted that an effort would be made to have the State Legislature take care of the matter.

It is doubtful that the issue is one with which the Legislature should concern itself. If local areas can agree upon what they want and make the law stick, that is fine but for the Legislature to shove something like this down the throats of the various communities of the state is clearly out of line. The matter is not one of state-wide importance.

As to the merits of such a law, it should be obvious to all concerned that this kind of legislation is highly questionable. Its legality is a doubtful matter and a great many people are opposed to it for one reason or another. One's day of rest in the week, if of any matter to him at all, is a religious matter and should remain as such. One wonders how often it must be proved to be accepted that moral conduct is a personal matter and if it has to rely on the force of public law, it isn't worth the paper the code is written on.

Everyone Is Helping

A great deal of credit must be given to medical science for headway against heart conditions this past decade. Not only has remedial therapy been greatly improved but preventive practices as well. The impact of the advances is best reflected by recalling that 10 million Americans have cardiac disorders. It is a case of some improvement going a long way.

But almost equally important is a rationalization of the patient's reaction to a heart ailment. The knowledge of such a condition has long been one which invoked fear and resulted in withdrawal. This not only characterized the patient but affected his employer and his associates as well. The latter assumed that a heart condition automatically ended the victim's usefulness.

This has changed. Now when the physician advises that the patient can continue to be active, or sets sensible limits to his activity, the community and the patient are beginning to act accordingly.

For one, the Eastman Kodak Company has found that where once it considered a heart patient as all through it can now return 95 per cent of such cases to their former employment. Business in general is having a similar experience.

It is good that old misapprehensions are disappearing and that medical science has progressed to the point where it can spearhead the disappearance. Therapy is not all in the hands of the physician. It requires a constructive emotional approach on the part of the patient and a realistic attitude on the part of the community. When all three combine for good ailments become less formidable. Proof of this is becoming increasingly evident in the field of heart disease.

Places To Cut Costs

President Kennedy made a sterling presentation of his case for a general income tax reduction, and spoke encouragingly of offsetting some of the lost federal revenue by budgetary self-denial.

Going into more detail on that we suggest that the Congress catch the spirit and refrain from voting pay raises and refrain also from exercising such costly prerogatives of touring the world on counterpart money. It would be a good idea, too, if congressmen and senators applied to themselves the new Internal Revenue view of justifiable business expense.

The House Un-American Operations Committee also warrants attention as do other investigative bodies whose net results are small.

Only the Government Operations Committee and the Public Works Committee required more funds in a recent bracket of time than the Un-American Activities Committee. Both have far flung duties.

During the 18 months ending June 30, 1962, the House Un-American Activities Committee managed to spend $493,419.10 and it is hard to tell offhand what distinguished piece of work emanated. It seems that professional justice could pursue the subversives with much more effect at a much lower cost per mile. One is reminded that while the committee was spending $493,419.10, a clutch of Red spies were gathering in enough classified information to permit a Russian author to fill a large book, pretty accurately describing this nation's defense posture. It was virtually a running report of what we are doing. It is significant that whatever respect Moscow holds for our power stems from the awe inspiring facts in the book, and not from the reports of the House committee.

No Commitment For Non Invasion

WASHINGTON.—The public doesn't know it, but the first meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was supposed to be briefed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk on the entire world. Instead, it got bogged down in a hassle over Cuba.

The meeting was held behind closed doors, and a transcript has not been made public. However, it can be revealed that the secretary of state was given a rather rough going-over by three Republicans, George Aiken, Vt., Bourke Hickenlooper, Ia., John Williams, Del.; by one Democrat, Stuart Symington, Mo.; and one political neuter, Frank Lausche, Ohio.

At the end of two hours, the closed-door meeting was still arguing over Cuba.

Symington, who has become the No. 1 Democratic advocate of preventive war, grilled Rusk over whether President Kennedy had not made a contract which prevented him from invading Cuba. Other senators raised the same question. Judging by their critical questions, they seemed hell-bent for invasion, believed Kennedy had barred it by making a contract with Khrushchev not to invade if he removed Russian missiles.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., defended Rusk but pointed out that there had never been a clear statement of policy regarding Cuba.

"The problem," he said, "is not merely getting rid of Castro, but what is to follow Castro. When you fellows run for office, you don't just ask that the other fellow be defeated, you promise what you'll give the voters if they defeat him. We have to do that in Cuba. We have to offer something better than Castro.

"We've spent a lot of time condemning the devil," said the senator from Minnesota, "but we've spent no time creating heaven."

As the cross-examination dragged on, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., chairman of the Latin American subcommittee and former University of Oregon dean of law, interrupted.

"As an old teacher of contracts," he said, "we'd better review what makes a contract. May I point out that every law book in the country shows that in order to have a contract there must be three things: first, an offer; second, a consideration; third, there must be a meeting of minds on acceptance.

"In this case, the fact was that Khrushchev was building up an aggressive course of action in Cuba. The further fact was that we were ready to do anything to get those missiles out of Cuba. President Kennedy made the statement that he would not invade if the missiles were removed.

"But there was no binding contract, and I don't want to hear any more about a binding contract. Personally, I see no reason for invasion unless our security is threatened."

Secretary Rusk agreed. He made it clear there would be no invasion unless the security of the United States was threatened.

However, the discussion dragged on. Ohio's persistent Lausche, especially, remained unsatisfied. It seemed clear he wanted an invasion.

Finally, at 12:30 noon, after more than two hours of debate, the senator from Oregon interrupted again.

Egyptians Started Curly Hair; Germans Sold It To Our Ladies

NEW YORK—There is scarcely anything less permanent than a "permanent wave" (my home-brewed variety has about the life span of a snagged nylon), but so far no congressional subcommittee has labelled the word "permanent" as misleading advertising.

Guess when it comes to such a female subject, they don't want to split hairs.

The first permanents split plenty of hairs, however. That was back in the days of 1905, when millionaires were millionaires after taxes, and their ladies were women with time on their hands. The first permanents helped the men spend their excess money (cost about $1,000 the baking) and it killed time (up to 20 hours) for the ladies.

It also may have killed a few ladies, but hairdressers even today don't like to think about that.

It was the German named Charles Nestle who discovered how to crimp ladies' hair.

His process was a boiling and baking procedure. picked up from the old Egyptians who used to shave their heads and wear curly black wigs. To curl those wigs, the Cleopatra clan wrapped swatches of their shorn hair around sticks and boiled. them. Then they packed the boiled corkscrews in clay and baked them over hot fires.

Nestle decided to copy the idea, with modifications, only he didn't think it was necessary to shave the hair off.

So he wrapped long hair, often floor length, around a series of gas-heated coils that weighed nearly two pounds each.

Then he baked them for "less than one day."

The process was introduced in London and went over big. London women didn't mind having there scalps burned a bit for the sake of vanity, and Nestle didn't mind having his hands burned for the sake of money either.

But in the United States, there was caution. The new world ladies didn't want to get burned, and (at those prices) neither did the men.

But this machine was greatly improved when electricity was introduced, in 1909, except for an incident or two when ceilings fell in due to the weight of the curlers. Yet he still couldn't sell American on the "permanent" process until he held a free demonstration. Considering the price, it was a bold move. But it did the job. Seeing what the permanent wave could do for their crowning glory, women flocked to his salon and a great business was born.

Nestle, who made about $3,000,000 for discovering how to crimp ladies' hair, died broke in 1951.

He crimped. But obviously never scrimped.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: What can be done for glands that flare up in my neck, armpits and groin? — MRS. C. B.

Dear Sir: Last year I noticed three little knots or lumps just below my left ear where the neck joins the shoulder. The doctor said they were lymph nodes and nothing to worry about; they might last a week, a month, a year or forever. If they don't go away is there a chance of malignancy? To be real honest I can't help but wonder. — MR. A. P.

Dr. Molner

Let me go the long way round to answer these questions. When we mention circulation, we automatically think of the blood — but there's another, and important type in our bodies: lymph circulation.

Lymph is something like blood plasma plus some useful variations, and it circulates through fragile channels, here and there reaching nodes, whose purpose is to filter out material accumulated by the lymph in its important job of fighting infections.

Suppose you have a badly infected hand and see ominous red streaks under the skin. Those are inflamed lymph ducts. Next, unless the infection is halted, lymph nodes at the elbows and then the shoulder will become swollen and tender.

Nodes in the groin protect the legs; those in the neck may become enlarged from such things as an infected tooth, bad tonsils, even scalp infections. And there are others scattered about the body.

Very common diseases — German measles is one — may be featured by enlarged nodes. Mononucleosis can do it in various areas. And so on.

Usually an enlarged node or group of nodes will subside when the infection is past, but not always. Sometimes they remain oversize indefinitely, without doing any harm.

There is, however, this to consider: Enlarged lymph nodes can also be a sign of troubles such as leukemia, Hodgkins disease, lymphoma and tuberculosis, most of these not being common.

Removal for microscopic examination will give the answer.

Let's not all go running to have our nodes checked; it's not unusual to find them in groin or neck from infections long since gone.

Rather, my comments today refer to newly discovered nodes that persist, grow larger, come and go or in some such way draw the patient's attention.

Where swollen glands accompany some known illness, forget them. But where the reason isn't obvious, and your doctor can detect some other suspicious signs, it is well worth while to have the relatively simple checking done on the node itself.

Dear Dr. Molner: The joints in my knees make a cracking noise. Exercises don't seem to help. — D. G.

The main reason: Some decrease in the small amount of fluid normally present in the joint; thinning of the cartilage; or change in the ends of the bones, usually due to arthritic changes. No, exercising won't affect any of these factors.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: Is a heating pad good for arthritis? It seems to relieve the pains in my arms and back at night and in damp weather. But I was told its use dries up the bones. Now I am worried. — A. M.

Go right ahead with your heating pad. It won't dry up the bones or do any other damage.

Heat is one of the universally approved ways of helping arthritis victims. It doesn't make very much difference how the heat is applied — by pad, hot water bottle, heat lamp (with discretion), sitting near the fire, or whatever. Any method that is handy is fine.

I hope whoever gave you the dismal misinformation about the bones "drying," sees this article and stops passing that story around. It would be too bad if anyone sacrificed the help of heating pads because of such an incorrect scare-story.

Dear Dr. Molner: Over a long period, my 12-year-old son has been troubled with frequent nose bleeds. Do diseases of the heart, liver or kidneys have anything to do with this condition? Aside from his nose, he seems to be in good health. — MRS. C. K.

Those diseases can be related to nose bleed, but there would be other signs. If the boy's general health is good, it would be more reasonable to suspect that some tiny artery is located near the surface membrane of the nose and is irritated easily by blowing, picking, a slight bump, etc. The small, bleeding vessels of the nose usually can be easily eliminated by simple cauterization.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Reader's questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Misguided Youth

Lincoln, Neb.

Parents, teachers, ministers and many other groups gather to plan how to halt the headlong plunge to destruction of our nation's youth. In the meantime, the youngsters return from kindergarten or higher classes to an empty home, with no one there to care or to listen to their day's activities. Most of them take off across the country or to somewhere where the gang gathers. Some follow unwise plans fearfully. Some are lucky but for others it means heartbreak, the loss of innocent lives.

Teachers cannot be expected to undo what has been done down through the passing years. There must be a togetherness in the family, sharing, each doing his part, a loyalty to parents. To love and be loved by them is a parent's greatest gift.

Physical punishment solves no problem, often only driving the child more into himself or causing resentment or creating a bully. Adults who use violence admit frustration in ability to handle a difficult problem.

Youthful offenders who willfully come in cantact with the law should be tried by a jury. This brings publicity, which is unpleasant, but the youngster discovers he is not to be shielded, inviting further misdemeanor. And no man has the wisdom or right to pronounce sentence on the future life of another. Laws are made by and for the people, so says our Constitution of the United States.

Rude Awakening

Lake Worth, Fla.

Those planners in Washington might do well to heed the wisdom set forth in your editorial of Dec. 17, "Keeping A Good Distance," before establishing spur-of-the-moment, face-to-face television facilities for the convenience of President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev.

Harking back to an episode during Woodrow Wilson's administration, another drawback intrudes in addition to the ad lib off-the-cuff diplomatic dialogue the arrangement would put forward on the international stage. A somewhat grotesque situation but with grave possibilities of dire consequences might arise from the differing hours of daylight between Washington and Moscow. For when the roly-poly Khrushchev bounces out of bed of a morning and puts on his famous shoes, President Kennedy is asleep in the small dark hours.

One bright sunshiny morning, after a cheering breakfast of crunchy American capitalistic cereal and Latin American coffee, the unpredictable Mr. Khrushchev might get a bright idea for breakfast dessert in a new form of "peaceful co-existence" with Russian dressing. So he rings up his good friend, JFK, at once and rouses him out of sound sleep.

Now to return to Wilson. That intellectual president once raised holy Ned with the White House staff for waking him up when a matter of great importance came up during the night. He gave orders never to do so again—no matter what! Wilson explained that no man could make a sound decision on just being awakened from deep sleep.

From the same premise, but with the shoe on the other foot, consider Khrushchev's shoe-pounding proclivities when exasperated, as he might well be on being rudely roused from dreams of "peaceful co-existence." He might accidentally hit a button to start a nuclear war. Figuratively speaking.

Negotiations

Newark, N.J.

We have mentioned how the United States is, by its very physical make-up, a nation that can be trusted in negotiations. And we have cited that straight-line boundaries are the best guarantee to avoidance of border disputes which lead to wars. And we have shown that this country has been noted for buying territory instead of taking it by force.

The war between China and India is such a needless shedding of blood, merely a massive rowdyism among three large states. The U.N. should rush in and order Pakistan and India to stop quarreling and massing troops at their winding borders. The Chinese-India war is out of bounds for the U.N., since China is not in the U.N. So the pair should set up negotiation teams, now that an apparent cease-fire is in being. A line could be run along the 28th parallel, then a 45-degree line run, heading for Kashmir. There could be an exchange of a few pounds sterling to satisfy both sides. Each strip desired should be paid for separately.

Negotiate, or negotiate and purchase should be the watchword for 1963.

Roll-Call Vote

Hastings, Neb.

We read that our Senator Carl Curtis is opposed to raising the salaries of the senators and representatives. That means only that he knows the people are opposed to raising those salaries. But if the senator wishes to show his good faith, let him call for a roll-call vote and vote "no."

But we imagine that when the vote is taken, the chairman will say, "All in favor, say 'aye'; opposed 'no.' The 'ayes' have it." Thus the raise carries and the double-crossers are not exposed. I, then, will vote for a new member.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Needless Economy Deprives Man Of Pleasure

By ROBERT PETERSON

We all practice odd forms of economy. Even those who have money to burn are sometimes obstinate and penurious when it comes to indulging a whim or a wish they consider extravagant.

About a year ago I visited an affluent old gentleman who took enormous pride in his estate. On the rolling lawn near the terrace the emerald turf rose in a strange little mound and I asked what it was.

"I used to have a fine big elm there, but three years it died of Dutch Blight so I had it cut down and hauled away by a fellow who charged me $200. Then the scoundrel wanted an extra $100 to dig out the stump. I told him that for that kind of money I'd keep the stump and cover it with dirt."

Well, the old gentleman passed on recently at the age of 85 and when I stopped to pay my respects to his widow I happened to glance out the window and observed that the little mound of earth was gone.

"Yes," she said, "after fretting over it all those years he finally gave in and had the man come and remove the stump. But he didn't have long to enjoy it for he passed on two weeks later."

Moral: If you are depriving yourself of some little pleasure which you can afford but which your overly-thrifty nature keeps you from satisfying — don't wait too long.

There is an ancient conflict between youth and age, which causes the young to laugh and defy the criticisms of elders. It is not until age has brought the seasoning of experience and wisdom that the individual becomes aware that the criticisms were sound and justified.

A woman writes, "Our backyard is a great joy to us as we have a nice lawn with shrubs and friendly birds and squirrels. But yesterday a neighbor lad of 15 climbed over the wall, stepped on a new shrub we had planted, and with a small rifle casually shot a squirrel sipping water from the bird bath.

"I rushed from the house very upset that he had killed a favorite squirrel and ordered him to leave. He just laughed and climbed back over the fence. When I called the police they brushed it off saying boys will be boys. And when I went to see the boy's mother she listened but gave her son a look which said, 'Stay away from the old crab after this.' How is an older person expected to react to something like this?"

Well, it's an imperfect world and this means young people will be inconsiderate and that parents will fail to use necessary discipline. I think older people should stand up for their rights, but I think they must also take a philosophical view and view the infringements and injustices of others as evidence of imperfections in human nature. And if youthful transgressions continue to disturb them emotionally, I think they should seek more congenial communities in which to live.

As we look back on our lives, most of us must admit we've suffered considerably worrying about catastrophes which never materialized. Lord Beaconsfield summed it up saying, "The worst evil one has to endure is the anticipation of calamities that do not happen."

Filing Cabinet Motion Is Approved By Legislators

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said Wednesday Nebraska's lawmakers should not be required "to do business out of their hip pockets."

A majority of his colleagues agreed.

They voted 22-14 in favor of a motion directing the legislative clerk to spend an estimated $4,859 for 43 steel filing cabinets, with locks, which will be placed along the walls in the legislative chamber for the use of the senators.

Asked what the value of present filing cabinets is, Carpenter said he guess "they're worth about 35 cents apiece." Several legislators said his estimate might be a bit high.

Most of the senators must keep books, paper, legislative bills, letters etc. on or in their comparatively small desks. There is no office space set aside for their use.

Carpenter Wednesday also called attention to a bottle of oxygen which has been placed in a corner of the chamber.

He recommended that his colleagues "take a swig" of oxygen if they felt ill or had a headache.

He also suggested that "a swig of oxygen is much better than a cup of coffee" for a pickup.

It is not true, Carpenter added, that "the oxygen was placed here to give me a second wind."

Here Is Appetizing Economy

After the extravagances of the holidays, January is usually the time when homemaker's fancies turn toward thoughts of economy. And one of the best ways to shave dollars and cents off your food bill without sacrificing quality is to use frozen vegetables.

During the winter months, most fresh vegetables are scarce in the northern states, because they must be transported at great cost from warmer parts of the country. But frozen vegetables are available throughout the year, all over the country, at in-season prices. Furthermore, all the waste has been trimmed, so a pound of frozen vegetables is truly a pound of good eating.

Aside from their "pocket-pleasing" aspects, frozen vegetables also feature convenience, along with garden-fresh flavor, color and nutrient value. And they may be used in a variety of ways, in stews, soups, casseroles and salads, for summertime succulence the year around.

SHEPHERD'S PIE

- 1 (10-oz.) package frozen mixed vegetables
- 1 (5 oz.) package frozen whole mushrooms (optional)
- 3 tablespoons frozen chopped onions.
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 cups left-over roast beef, lamb or veal
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup beef bouillon
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon powdered thyme
- 1 (3⅛-oz.) package frozen whipped potatoes

Remove frozen mixed vegetables and frozen mushrooms from freezer. Cook frozen chopped onions in butter or margarine until lightly browned. Stir in meat, then flour and brown lightly. Slowly add milk and bouillon while stirring over low heat and allow to form light-brown sauce. Add salt and pepper. Stir in partially defrosted vegetables and turn into 1½-quart casserole. Cover and bake at moderate temperature (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare frozen whipped potatoes according to package directions. Remove cover from meat and vegetables and place mashed potatoes around edge. Brush melted butter over potatoes and place in oven an additional 15 minutes to lightly brown. Serves six generously.

FROZEN CORN IN GREEN PEPPER CUPS

- 1 (10-oz) package frozen whole kernel corn
- 1 (10-oz) package frozen cream style corn
- 3 or 4 medium size green peppers
- 3 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- Paprika

Remove packages of frozen corn from freezer. Cut tops from peppers and remove seeds. Cook peppers in boiling salted water to cover five minutes. Meanwhile, cook frozen whole kernel corn in boiling salted water briefly just until kernels are separated. Drain whole kernel corn and mix with cream style corn, chopped pimiento and butter or margarine. Remove peppers from cooking water, drain, arrange in casserole and spoon corn into them. Bake in hot oven (about 400 degrees F.) for 12 minutes. Serves three or four.

Valentine Gesture

The next red letter day coming up on the calendar is Valentine's Day. A few simple touches can add a festive note to any menu. Here we've taken meat loaf—albeit a very delicious one at that—and baked it in small heart shaped molds. The topping sauce is made with flavorful golden raisins accented with onion and lemon.

The well seasoned ham and pork mixture is held together with crumbled raisinbread . . . a taste surprising ingredient for meat loaf which adds interesting flavor. Bakery raisinbread may be found everywhere. It's delicious with morning eggs or for lunchbox sandwiches too.

VALENTINE HAM 'N' RAISIN LOAVES

- 4 slices day old raisin-bread
- 1 pound ground ham
- 1 pound ground lean fresh pork
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup milk
- ¼ cup finely minced onion
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Pull raisinbread apart into small crumbs. Combine with remaining ingredients, mixing thoroughly. Press firmly into 12 small lightly greased heart-shaped molds. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 40 minutes. Serve with Golden Raisin Sauce. Makes 6 servings.

NOTE: Meat may also be shaped into loaf. Increase baking time to 1½ hours.

GOLDEN RAISIN SAUCE:

Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and add one small finely chopped onion. Cook until soft but not brown. Blend in 1½ tablespoons flour. Add 1½ cups consomme and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Continue cooking and stirring until mixture boils. Add ½ cup golden raisins, lower heat and simmer until mixture is slightly thickened and raisins are plump. Makes about 1½ cups.

Oven-Fried Scallops A Sea Food Delight

One of the lesser-known, but nonetheless good, methods of scallop cookery is high-temperature oven-frying. This method eliminates the careful watching and turning of pan-frying and the nuisance of deep-frying—yet it produces the desirable even golden brown color and crispness. It also leaves the cook's hands free to prepare an accompaniment such as Hollandaise sauce. Here is a new recipe for these two taste treats, Oven Fried Scallops with Hollandaise, along with the directions for preparing your own supply of seasoned salt, the gourmet-chef's favorite flavor trick.

OVEN FRIED SCALLOPS WITH HOLLANDAISE

- 1 pound scallops
- 1 egg
- 1 tablespoon water
- ¾ cup dry bread crumbs
- 1½ teaspoons seasoned salt (or ¼ teaspoon thyme, 1 tablespoon paprika, ½ teaspoon salt, and a dash pepper)

Wash and dry scallops. Beat egg with water. Mix bread crumbs and seasoned salt (or seasonings). Dip scallops one at a time into egg mixture then roll in crumb mixture. Arrange in well-greased shallow baking pan. Bake at 500 degrees (very hot oven) 5 minutes. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

EASY HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

Melt ½ cup butter or margarine over hot water. With rotary beater, beat in 1 egg, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt and few grains of pepper.

Seasoned Salt: To make about 1 cup of seasoned salt to keep on hand, combine:

- ¾ cup salt
- 1 teaspoon thyme
- 1 teaspoon marjoram
- 1 teaspoon garlic salt
- 4 teaspoons paprika
- ½ teaspoon curry powder
- 2 teaspoons dry mustard
- ½ teaspoon onion salt

Cookie Recipe

SESAME SEED COOKIES

- 1¼ cups flour
- ¼ teaspoon double acting baking powder
- ¾ cup (1½ sticks) butter or margarine
- 1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1½ teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- ½ cup toasted sesame seeds.
- 1 large egg
- Toasted sesame seeds

Sift flour with baking powder and set aside. Soften butter or margarine in a mixing bowl. Gradually blend in sugar, vanilla extract and sesame seeds. Beat in egg. Stir in flour. Drop from a teaspoon onto ungreased cooky sheets 2-inches apart to allow room for spreading. Sprinkle tops with additional sesame seeds. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 6 to 7 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from oven, allow to cool on cooky sheet 1 minute. Remove from cooky sheet to wire rack. Store airtight.

YIELD: 5 dozen — 2¼-inch cookies.

Looks, Tastes Mighty Fancy

It looks — and tastes — mighty fancy, this "Plum Braid Bread," but it's actually quite easy to prepare with packaged hot roll mix. The luscious canned purple plums in the filling provide a tangy sweetness and an orchard-fresh flavor that you won't soon forget.

PLUM BRAID BREAD

- 1 can (1 lb. 15 oz.) purple plums in extra heavy syrup
- 1 package (13¾ oz.) hot roll mix
- 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
- ⅓ cup brown sugar, packed
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- 2 teaspoons lemon rind
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup flaked coconut

Drain plums, saving ¾ cup syrup. Prepare roll mix according to package directions, adding granulated sugar to dry mix. Combine brown sugar, cinnamon and cornstarch in a saucepan; chop plums and add. Stir in plum syrup and lemon rind; heat until mixture is thickened. Remove from heat and stir in lemon juice, butter and coconut. Cool. When dough has doubled in size, roll out on floured cooky sheet into a 16 x 9-inch rectangle. Spread filling on a 4-inch strip down center of dough. Cut dough along each side of filling into 1-inch horizontal strips. Fold strips at an angle across filling, alternating from side to side. Brush excess flour from cooky sheet. Bake in 375-degree (moderately hot) oven about 15 minutes or until bread is golden brown. Remove from oven and brush with additional melted butter if desired. Serve warm.

Makes 1 coffee bread about 16 x 4 inches.

PIMIENTO CHEESE SANDWICH FILLING

¼ pound (about 1¼ cups) shredded cheddar cheese
1 pimiento, chopped
⅓ cup real mayonnaise
⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper
Mix all ingredients together. Makes about 1¾ cups filling.

Company, Union Both Pressuring City For Fare Hike, Mayor Says

Philadelphia (AP) — Mayor James H. J. Tate accused both the Philadelphia Transportation Co. and the Transport Workers Union Wednesday of attempting to pressure the city to drop its opposition to a fare increase as the price for settlement of a two-day-old strike.

The walkout has forced almost 500,000 riders to find means of getting to and from work other than subways, elevated trains, buses and trolleys.

Neither the company nor the union had any immediate reply to the mayor's accusation.

Denied Charge

But the company's president, Robert H. Stier, denied an earlier charge by Tate that the PTC wanted a strike.

Tate told a news conference that the transit firm, through its attorneys, sought what he termed a backdoor deal for an immediate fare rise without city opposition and for leave to file for a second fare increase in May.

Present fares are 23 cents cash or 5 tokens for $1.05.

The mayor said Union President Michael J. Quill was continuing what Tate called doubletalk, alternately ridiculing the city's efforts to bring about some agreement and then apologizing "to me."

He termed Quill's actions grandstand tactics and another form of pressure designed to beat down the city's opposition to a fare boost.

'Not Responsible'

"I deny that the company is responsible for it (the strike)," Company President Robert H. Stier said. He added that the union's demands "would fasten on riders fares far, far higher than those now on file with the Public Utility Commission."

Stier was replying to a statement by the mayor in which Tate said, "They (the company) are showing their real attitude toward the public. If they were really interested in the public they would sit down and bargain . . . and get this settled."

Local 234 of the Transport Workers Union, AFL-CIO, has about 5,600 members on strike.

Issues are wages and a no-layoff clause. Both sides have indicated agreement could be negotiated on wages, but the no-layoff clause is another matter.

The company says the clause fosters feather-bedding. The union contends the clause has to remain in any agreement or it will mean loss of jobs for one-third of its members.

The union has asked for a 3-year contract—indicated it will accept two—and demanded a 75-cents wage package that includes 38-cents cash and a cut in the work week from 40 to 35 hours. Present wages range from $2.25 to $2.75 an hour.

Woman To Attempt Survival Feat

Mrs. Lavina Radabaugh, 47-year-old Wayne, Mich., housewife, makes a practice run for her hike into the back country near Clare, Mich., Friday where she will set up a camp and stay alone for 8 days and nights. She will receive $150 if she completes the stay. According to an agreement with Clare representatives who invited her to attempt the feat after she challenged a similar experiment made last year by a man, Mrs. Radabaugh will take only such supplies as she can carry for a half mile and will live on what she has brought with her and on wild game.

Walk-Away Jail Trusty Recaptured

A trusty who walked away from the Lancaster County jail Wednesday afternoon landed behind bars again Wednesday night after he was recaptured by two Lincoln foot patrolmen.

Officers Marlin Rauscher and Oren Skiles, recognizing James Rowe (alias James Ross), 41, of Chicago, from the description given them by headquarters, apprehended him on O between 7th and 8th.

The arrest ended a 6-hour search for the inmate after he failed to show up for supper at the county jail.

Fur Theft Case

Rowe is serving one year as an accessory after the fact in the theft of furs from Magee's Clothing Co. in July 1962.

Deputy Sheriff Jerry Herndon said the Chicagoan was believed to have walked away from the jail about 1 p.m., shortly after he was let out to empty some garbage.

Herndon said they did not become concerned about Rowe's absence until he failed to show up for supper at 4 p.m. He explained:

"He's out working around the jail and the garage, cleaning up, until feeding time every day so we didn't worry until he failed to show."

Won't Wear Shoe

Richmond, Va. (UPI)—Albertis S. Harrison—alternately described as "the Mona Lisa of Virginia politics" and a "cautious reactionary" — declined to say which, if either, description best fits him. The descriptions were contained in recent newspaper dispatches.

Woman's Face Cut As Car Hits Icy Curve, Tree

A 22-year-old Lincoln woman was listed in good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital after the car in which she was riding went out of control on an icy curve at Pioneers Park Wednesday afternoon and hit a tree.

Jeanne Kay Lichty, of 1531 S, was treated for facial lacerations at the hospital and held for observation.

Police said the driver was William Sutter, 20, of 1425 R.

Officer Robert Slezak said the car slid about 100 feet sideways before it struck the tree.

Supply Of Sub-Soil Moisture Up 9 Pct.

The sub-soil moisture supply in Nebraska's wheat fields was above a year ago, according to tests taken by the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics in mid-October.

The tests indicated about 9% more available moisture was stored than a year earlier and 27% above the 1951-60 average. All districts showed a gain from a year earlier. The greatest change was an increase of 28% in the south central district.

The southwest district registered a gain of 20% and 11% respectively. Supplies in all areas ranged from 24% above average in the central district to 36% above in the south central district.

Record High Stocks

Stocks of 4 feed grains namely, corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums on Nebraska farms Jan. 1, 1963, of 12,568,000 tons were at a record high. They were 18% above the 10,681,000 tons on hand a year earlier and 9% above the previous peak of 11,576,000 tons on Jan. 1, 1961. All of the farm stored feed grains were up from a year ago except barley which declined sharply.

Corn stocks totaled 360,361,000 bushels, a new high, and up about 41 million bushels from a year earlier.

Oats stocks of 27,557,000 bushels were up one per cent from a year earlier.

Barley stocks amounted to 3,120,000 bushels, down 31% from a year earlier.

Grain sorghum totaled 70,070,000 bushels, a record high, and 65% above a year earlier.

Wheat stocks on farms amounted to 27,988,000 bushels, down nearly 14 million bushels from a year earlier and the smallest since 1955.

Rye stocks at 1,440,000 bushels were 22% larger than Jan. 1, 1961.

Stocks of soybeans amounted to 4,687,000 bushels, a record high and 12% above the previous peak a year earlier.

Hay stocks on hand the first of the year were 5,561,000 tons, one-fifth more than a year earlier.

Milk production during December, 1962 in Nebraska was 140 million pounds compared with 149 million pounds a year earlier.

Egg production during December, 1962 totaled 147 million eggs, down from 149 million in December a year previous. Total production for the state in 1962 was 1,779 million eggs, up slightly from the 1,750 million produced in 1961.

Svoboda Selected

Fremont—George E. Svoboda, former Fremont mayor, was chosen president of the Dodge County Bar Association. He succeeds Lyle B. Gill. Robert L. Flory was named vice president, and John L. Cutright re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Papillion $800,000 Proposal OKd; Springfield Issue Loses

Papillion (AP) — Voters of Sarpy County's Papillion school district approved an $800,000 bond issue, 727-194, but in Springfield district, also in Sarpy County a $410,000 bond issues failed by 10 votes.

The proposal was favored 295-258, slightly less than the 55% required.

The Papillion district still faces an obstacle to issuance of the bonds. The district court ruled recently that La Vista, a new community north of Papillion, cannot be divorced from the Papillion district. The district, which initiated the action, decided not to appeal, but a former Papillion school board member, Don Lienemann, intervened and is seeking to reverse the decision.

The Springfield district wanted money for a new elementary school in Springfield and a 4 room addition to the La Platte Elementary School. The proposal lost 47-54 in La Platte and was favored 248-204 in Springfield.

3 Badly Injured In Bassett Crash

Bassett (AP)— Four persons were hurt, 3 of them critically, in a headon collision of two cars 20 miles south of Bassett early Wednesday.

The driver of one car was Forrest Faar of Rose. Driver of the second car was Eugene Brewer of Litchfield. With him were Don Burkum and Hank Burland, both of Litchfield.

The 4 were taken to a Bassett hospital where Brewer remained. His condition was described as fair. The others, all listed in critical condition, were taken to Omaha.

Shuman Says Farm Exodus Will Continue

Omaha (AP)—The president of the American Farm Bureau Federation predicted Wednesday "no slackening" of the farm exodus in the next few years.

"The number of those squeezed off the farm in the last two years under Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman is slightly more than those who had to leave during the last two years of Ezra Taft Benson's administration," Charles B. Shuman said.

Declaring that his organization continues to be interested in the welfare of former farmers, Shuman said: "We want them to continue to live in rural communities, if possible."

He credited industries related to agriculture with absorbing many farmers who had had to give up active farming.

"I can't shed too many tears for someone who has had to abandon a bare subsistence farming operation and now is making 4 times what he did in serving farmer needs as a mechanic, salesman, soil technician or truck operator," he continued.

Some 75 farm Bureau Federation leaders from Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and the Dakotas completed their 3-day policy workshop Wednesday afternoon.

A. Walter Duvel Named Chamber Industry Manager

A. Walter Duvel Jr., 35, has been appointed manager of the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Department.

Duvel came to Lincoln from South Bend, Ind., where he has been associate director for the Committee of 100 of South Ben-Mishawaka, Ind.

Duvel, who will take over his new duties Feb. 1, received his degree from California State Polytechnic College and has done additional study at the University of Hawaii and Indiana University Center.

He is experienced in industrial park promotion work, according to Chamber President W. E. Townsend who announced Duvel's appointment.

Appeal May Affect Validity Of Millions

A court action which could affect the validity of millions of dollars in contracts has been appealed to the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The Thorp Finance Corp., a Wisconsin firm, has filed notice with Nebraska's highest court that it will seek to have the Supreme Court overturn a Lancaster County District Court decision that the state installment sales law is unconstitutional.

Contracts valued at millions of dollars between buyers and retail stores, finance companies, banks and other lenders have been made under the terms of the law.

Judge Paul White issued the lower court opinion before he retired from the District Court bench to run successfully for chief justice of the Supreme Court. He denied a motion for a new trial on the District Court level.

Prohibitions

White's lower court opinion said the law violates the State Constitution which prohibits the Legislature from passing laws regulating interest on money and laws granting special privileges or immunities.

The judge ruled the so-called "time-price differential rates" charged on installment purchases are actually interest, and the law thus violates the Constitution.

Plaintiffs in the case were Garnet A. and Donna Watson, and the defendant was Highway Motors, Inc.

Interested parties have indicated they would like to have a Supreme Court ruling while the Legislature is still in session so the law could be corrected if it is ruled unconstitutional by the high court.

Judge Nielsen Dies; NU Grad In State Dept.

Judge Fred K. Nielsen, former Nebraskan who held various position in the State Department under all administrations for some 30 years, died Saturday in Washington, D.C.

His long career as judge, diplomat and professor in the field of international law began in Washington in 1910.

He acted as U.S. representative at the Paris Peace Conference in 1919, was solicitor of state under Presidents Woodrow Wilson and Warren G. Harding, chairman of the Commission of Legal Experts on the Limitation of Armaments in 1921, argued cases before the International Arbitral Tribunal in London in 1923, served as legal adviser at the London Economic Conference in 1933, and for many years was American commissioner in arbitrations with such countries as The Netherlands, Mexico, Egypt and Turkey, negotiating and drafting numerous treaties.

One of his later appointments was that of International law consultant for the War Department at the War Criminal Trials in Tokyo in 1946.

Neilsen spent his boyhood and youth in Omaha, and was a graduate of the University of Nebraska. He received his A.B. in 1902, LL.B. in 1905, and was awarded the honorary doctor of laws degree in 1929.

His memberships included Nebraska Alumni Association, University Club, Nebraska Bar Association and American Legion.

Among his survivors are nieces, Margaret Nielsen of Omaha; Alice Nielson of Minneapolis; Mrs. Ingeborge MacHaffie of Corvallis, Ore.; nephews, Dr. R. F. Nielsen of State College, Pa., Dr. H. P. Nielsen of Long Beach, Calif., all University of Nebraska graduates.

Self-Help In Feed Grains Encouraged

Clarence D. Palmby, executive vice president of the U. S. Feed Grains Council, Wednesday encouraged the Nebraska Feed Grain Growers Association (NFGGA) to embark on a program of self-help to obtain higher prices for their product.

"The federal government has never in the past and probably will not in the future come up with a program that will fully satisfy the feed grain farmer," he said.

Palmby also extended an informal invitation for the NFGGA to join the U.S. Feed Grains Council. "I can't speak for the whole council," Palmby said, "but I am sure it will more than welcome you as a member."

The NFGGA announced Tuesday that it plans on sponsoring a legislative bill which would place a levy on all feed grains produced in Nebraska. The aim of the levy would be to develop foreign markets and new uses for feed grains in an effort to gain higher prices and eliminate surpluses.

Palmby explained to the NFGGA and several state senators attending a luncheon meeting here that foreign markets are expanding.

In reality, Palmby said, there is only one obstacle standing in the way of nearly unlimited exports of feed grains from the U.S. — "reluctance to recognize economic comparative advantage, and a further reluctance to allow economic forces to be fully active."

Budget Talk Monday

Gov. Frank Morrison arranged Wednesday to give his biennial budget message to the Legislature at 10 a.m. next Monday.

Earlier plans called for delivery of the message Thursday.

The slow-growing lichen is virtually indestructible. Some lichen colonies may be more than a thousand years old. Two distinct organisms, a fungus and an alga, combine to form the plant. Algae supply carbohydrates by photo-synthesis; fungi provide salts and water storage.

CONTRACTORS TACKLING WATER WORK PROBLEMS

More than 175 delegates and their wives registered for first-day sessions of the Nebraska Conservation Contractors Association annual meeting Wednesday aimed at tackling some of the problems encountered by the group in working on soil and water conservation projects.

Bill Holland, International Harvester Co. representative, told the association members—all earth-moving contractors who specialize in dam, waterway and terrace construction—that "cost stability in your field is due to your continued improvement of techniques, and the continued production of efficient equipment to handle the job."

He urged the contractors to enlist the support of bankers, educators and civic leaders in the practices of soil and water conservation—a field in which "knowledge and interest is not widespread."

Shorten Gap

Discussing how farm people accept ideas, E. W. Janike, director of the ag extension service, told the contractors they must "shorten the time between when an idea is proven and when it is accepted."

In soil conservation today "we've probably done the easy part of the job — convincing the early adopters of the program's worth—but we have quite a selling job ahead in convincing the rest," Janike told the group.

He urged them to deal closely with the Soil Conservation Service in their work and to gain the confidence and help of local farm leaders.

In other talks, Ed Stipsky, area SCS engineer, reviewed bidding procedures; Eugene H. Lilly of Universal Surety discussed bonding, and G. R. Tennyson of Allis Chalmers talked on "Profit, or Else!" Other speakers reviewed credit procedures and equipment needs.

'Aid Junior College Or Hurt Students'

Representatives of the 4 public junior colleges and Omaha University told several state senators here Wednesday that the cost of education has ballooned in the last 10 years and unless state aid is granted to their respective institutions, many students will be priced out of an education.

The junior colleges have joined with Omaha University in drawing up a proposed legislative bill which would provide that the state grant them $180 a year, or $90 per semester, for each resident student taking 14 or more credit hours.

Presently the junior colleges and Omaha University do not receive any state aid.

The bill proposes that the money for the aid come from the state's general fund.

40 Aid — Justifiably

Dallas Evans, president of Fairbury Junior College, told the lawmakers that of the 48 states that have junior colleges, "40 provide some kind of state aid and justifiably so."

"We just cannot continue to provide quality education to the young people of Nebraska under the present setup," Evans added.

Presently the state junior colleges and Omaha University are financed solely from a mill levy on the school district in which they are located and from student tuition fees.

'Why Leave Use Out?"

Robert Simmons, a member of the Scottsbluff Board of Education, said the state has already assumed the responsibility of providing state aid to other institutions of higher education in Nebraska and "why leave us out?"

"The state should and must assume the responsibility of defraying the financial costs of operating our junior colleges."

Simmons said that the state's junior colleges are a "vital part" of Nebraska's educational program, and "we need and sincerely want help so we can continue to play this role."

Dr. Curt Naylor, administrative assistant to the president of Omaha University, said Omaha University was "delighted" to cooperate with the junior colleges in sponsoring the proposed bill.

"Unless the state gives us some relief, we are going to be forced to hike our tuition fees," Naylor said. "This will certainly price a lot of students right out of an education."

Ruhnke Agrees

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth agreed that some action should be taken by the Legislature and agreed to call a meeting of all interested senators "to attempt to work out an arrangement whereby a bill can be introduced."

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, when asked what he thought about the proposed bill said:

"We know you have a problem, but you don't tell us where we are going to get the money to finance this state aid program. As a member of the Legislature I can assure you money does not grow on trees."

No Omaha Solons

Carpenter also said he was "surprised" that no Omaha senators were present at the noon meeting.

"It seems to me that Omaha has as much at stake here as anyone else and if the bill should come to the floor for a vote, the Omaha delegation could either make or break it."

Fred Bremer, president of McCook Junior College, said, "all we want is fair treatment. We feel we have a right to it."

Gerdes Amazed Over Spending For File Cabinets

Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance said Wednesday he was "just simply amazed" that the Legislature would vote to spend "so much money on itself for filing cabinets" he thinks are unneeded.

The Legislature Wednesday voted 22-14 on a motion from Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff to invest in 3-drawer, steel filing cabinets with locks, for each senator to replace those now in use. Estimated cost of the new files was $4,859.

Carpenter guessed ghe worth of the present cardboard files at "35 cents a piece", and suggested the small number available was forcing lawmakers to do business "out of their hip pockets."

Gerdes said he thought most members don't use all of one filing drawer, let alone 3 drawers.

"Besides," he added, "I sort of like that cheap file. I can toss it in the back of the car at the end of the session and take all my material home with me in it. Now I'll have to find a pasteboard box to take home." . . . . .

Bill Advances To Lift Ceiling On Mental Aid

The Budget Committee Wednesday advanced to the floor LB32 which removes the present $200,000 biennial ceiling on state matching funds for aid to the mentally disabled.

The bill, introduced by the committee at the request of Public Welfare Director Frank Woods, was amended to include the emergency clause which would make it effective immediately upon passage by the Legislature and approval of the governor.

Woods had told the committee earlier that his department has sufficient funds to continue the program for the remainder of the current biennium, but simply needed authority to use them for this purpose.

The department had reached the $200,000 limit several weeks ago.

RELUCTANT SENATOR McGINLEY ACCEPTS 49-DISTRICT PLAN

Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala Wednesday accepted the proposed new 49-district legislative reapportionment plan with some reluctance.

McGinley—who had just returned to Lincoln from a trip to western Nebraska — thus joined with other key legislators who have been active in seeking a solution to the redistricting problem.

Earlier, Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth reported that Sens. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, George Gerdes of Alliance and Elvin Adamson of Nenzel had all agreed upon the plan at a morning conference.

A Little Disappointed

McGinley appeared somewhat disappointed at the prospect of handing 5 of the 6 new seats to Douglas and Lancaster Counties.

He had drawn proposals which would have given two new districts to Douglas instead of 3, and one additional seat to Lancaster instead of two.

"I still think we could have justified by a scientific ratio on a basis of the area amendment a plan holding to two more Douglas and one more Lancaster districts," McGinley noted.

However, the present proposal provides "the best arrangment which we could work out in the West," he said.

Meanwhile, Ruhnke said he is now "fully satisfied" that the 49-member plan meets area requirements of the constitutional amendment.

Statewide, the proposal provides 20% weight for area, and in individual districts the weight never exceeds 30%, he said.

No Split Counties

No county lines were split, Ruhnke pointed out.

Only change in the plan since it was revealed Tuesday was a switch in the number designation of 3 eastern districts.

New District 14 would now be composed of Burt and Washington Counties; District 15 would be Dodge County, and District 16 would be Cuming and Colfax.

BEEF SALE

SENSATIONAL LOW BEEF PRICES at O.P. SKAGGS

THIS EMBLEM IS THE GOVERNMENT'S WAY OF HELPING YOU TO KNOW — USDA CHOICE — QUALITY MEAT!

FOUR HELPFUL HINTS THAT EVERY BEEF EATER SHOULD KNOW

INSIST UPON "U. S. CHOICE" GRADE BEEF → You can't fool an expert! Government-licensed meat graders are experts who judge meat impartially for eating quality and stamp the correct grade right on the meat. Every cut of beef that O. P. SKAGGS sells has been graded "U. S. CHOICE"—your assurance of superior eating qualities.

NOTICE HOW YOUR BEEF IS TRIMMED → Before we weigh and price any cut of meat, we trim it "the O. P. SKAGGS way" to remove every extra ounce of waste. You get all the fat you need for flavor, but not a bit more. We remove excess bones. It all adds up to more delicious meat per pound!

BUY WHERE MEATS LOOK FRESH & "TIDY" → O. P. SKAGGS meats have a bloom of freshness about them. The reason is right BEHIND the meat case. There, in an immaculate refrigerated room, meats are being constantly cut . . . constantly wrapped . . . constantly placed in the display cases. That's why meats are fresh and wrappings tidy at O. P. SKAGGS.

PROTECT YOURSELF with a GUARANTEE → We're only human. And we realize that, in handling countless tons of meats, something may go wrong occasionally. Please tell us about it! You must be pleased with the quality and value of any meat you buy at O. P. SKAGGS. If not, we'll gladly replace any item, or refund your money.

CASTRO PLEADS FOR RED UNITY

Havana (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro set himself up as a champion for unity within the socialist world Wednesday and called on the Soviet Union and Communist China to patch up their ideological quarrel.

In a 1¾-hour speech to a leftist-led "All American Women's Congress" which ended early Wednesday, Castro urged communist countries which have "discrepancies" to unite "within the Marxist-Leninist" framework.

He indicated he sympathized with the Chinese. In particular he assailed "false interpretations of history" in an apparent dig at Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence line.

Only by "hurling the masses into combat" can true revolutionary leaders attain national aspirations, Castro said. "That is what they did in Algiers and what the (communist) patriots are doing in South Viet Nam . . . that is what we did, too," Castro said.

Castro said he did not want to add coal to the fire but he said Cuba felt it its duty to "fight for the unity of the socialist world . . . with Marxist-Leninist methods."

He did not refer either to the Soviet or China by name but he dedicated the last 20 mintues of his talk to the "discrepancies" within the socialist bloc and expressed several times a plea for unity.

Castro, as usual, lashed out at the United States which he described as "the most aggressive nation in the world."

Publishers Walk Out Of Talks

New York (AP)—The Publishers Association accused striking printers of refusal to negotiate and abruptly walked out of peace talks Wednesday. An association spokesman said he saw no present hope of settling New York's grim 40-day newspaper blackout.

Amory H. Bradford, vice president of the struck Times and chief negotiator for the Publishers Association of New York, declared as he quit the negotiations:

"We are ready to resume meetings when the union is ready to negotiate. We are always ready to meet at the call of the mediators."

Bradford said the union representatives left the meeting to caucus, whereupon the publishers' representatives walked out.

Resolve Dispute

In a statement issued later, the publishers expressed "determination to resolve the dispute through the processes of collective bargaining." They expressed hope that Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor Robert Wagner would intensify their efforts for a settlement.

Bertram A. Powers, leader of 3,000 striking members of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union's Local 6, said the publishers' walkout "defied the mediators, showed contempt for the union and a refusal to negotiate."

Powers told newsmen:

"If the union walked out at this stage, you fellows would report it as an irresponsible act and an act of defiance. I call on you to treat the publishers in the same way."

Another Meeting

Federal Mediator Stephen I Schlossberg, heading a 3-man team of federal, state and city peacemakers, withheld any comment on the walkout, but said he would try to set up another joint meeting sometime in the future.

Both sides gave a little ground at their last face-to-face meeting on Saturday. But once Wednesday's preliminaries were out of the way, Bradford recounted.

"Mr. Powers then insisted that we repeat each of the proposals we had made on Saturday, which we did. I said I thought we came to the meeting to hear a proposal from him, not to restate our proposal. It must be apparent to the union that it must move into an area which we can support . . .

"I insisted on stating that we came here to negotiate an agreement, and in view of the fact the union's position remained unchanged we saw no point in continuing the discussions and broke off the meeting."

The ITU printers struck Dec. 8 against 4 of New York's 9 major newspapers. The other 5 then closed down. Nearly 20,000 employed were thrown out of work, and the daily flow of 5½ million copies of the 9 newspapers halted.

Cost of the stike to the newspaper industry alone neared the $50 million mark, with uncounted additional losses to businesses deprived of their regular advertising outlets.

Florida Plumber Fights City Hall With Success

Coral Gables, Fla. (UPI)—The city of Coral Gables capitulated Wednesday and issued a license to James Burgin, a cigar-chewing plumber who made a shambles of that old saying, "you can't fight city hall."

The 44-year-old Burgin not only fought city hall for some 4 years, but he almost caused the mayor, the entire city commission and 3 other city officials to be thrown into jail last week.

Burgin estimated his long legal fight with Coral Gables cost him "about $5,000."

Burgin, who was a Dade County plumbing licensee, was refused a Coral Gables license after he failed a city test.

The battle burst into public view last week when Circuit Judge Pat Cannon cited the city for contempt of court for refusing to give Burgin a license despite a state supreme court ruling in the plumber's favor.

Cannon followed the contempt citation with arrest orders and deputies were out looking for Mayor Robert Searle and the other officials when City Attorney Edward (Ted) Semple got the arrest order quashed.

Wednesday, the city gave in, issued Burgin his license and at the same time asked Cannon to withdraw contempt charges against the officials.

"I am happy," said Burgin.

"I hope it's all over with now," said City Finance Director Kenneth Allen.

Animated Plastic Man To Breathe In Health Gallery

Funds for a $7,500 public health display have been given to the University of Nebraska, it was announced Wednesday by Douglas Serafy, executive secretary of the Nebraska Tuberculosis Association.

The display will be a portion of an animated, plastic man showing a normal respiratory system and will be placed in the Health Galleries of the University of Nebraska State Museum.

Dr. Kenneth Rose, Student Health Service staff physician, said the 9-foot-high mock-up will show a man's breathing apparatus from the diaphragm upward. A system for recorded sound messages will accompany the display.

Dr. Rose said the new display will complement Ceres, the transparent "talking" woman. Mock-ups such as these provide teachers with an effective way of showing how the body functions, he said.

Dr. Rose said completion and installation of the plastic figure is expected this summer.

Tumble Through Bank Floor Hole Hospitalizes Man

Roger Mann, 30, of 1936 So. 22nd, was listed in good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital after he fell through a hole in the floor of a building under construction at 12th and N Wednesday morning.

Hospital officials said Mann was treated for a broken arm and facial cuts.

Police said he removed a large plywood covering from the hole and tumbled into it. He was working on the addition to the First National Bank building.

Eastridge Presby OKs Bigger Budget

Members of Eastridge Presbyterian Church this week adopted an expanded budget of $37,632 for 1963 at an annual meeting.

The congregation also approved a $9,156 appropriation from the budget for benevolences, according to the Rev. Thomas Huxtable.

The Rev. Mr. Huxtable also reported that the special building fund receipts for 1962 totaled $17,262, and the church reduced its indebtedness by $21,000.

Francis Haskins was named church treasurer.

Elected to 3-year session-member terms were: Merlyn Cook, Jack Hart and Harold Ottoson. Elden Henninger was elected for one year.

Board of trustees members include (3 years) Ronald Hindman, Robert Johnson, LaVell Swarts.

Deacons: (3 years) Dr. and Mrs. Connell Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Stauffer; (2 years) Dr. and Mrs. Loyd Fischer.

Congress Told To Act In Land Fraud

Washington (AP) — Congress was called on Wednesday to help crack down on mail-order sales of desert plots in Arizona touted as lush retirement havens but which witnesses said are raw land 10 to 12 miles from the nearest water.

"Thousands and thousands who are planning for the sunset years of their lives read this disgraceful advertising—they go for the bait without seeing the hook," J. Fred Talley, Arizona state real estate commissioner, testified.

Talley told a Senate Committee on Aging, "It is a mystery to me" why the Post Office Department hasn't acted against promoters of the project—the Lake Mead Rancheros in the Mohave desert.

Chief Postal Inspector H. B. Montague said the reason is that the laws need to be changed to permit faster action to get court injunctions to halt phony promotional schemes while officials investigate further for possible prosecution. He said his office has known since late last summer that promoters of the Lake Mead Rancheros project were using "evident misrepresentation" in a big mail-order selling campaign.

Talley said his problem is that the promoters operate outside Arizona to sell the lots and that postal officials had promised help.

"My department cooperated in the investigation," Talley said, "and was even told there was no need for us to act because a criminal case was about to be filed. Why this was not done is a mystery to me.

Still Swindling

"The company is still defrauding the public and, I am afraid, still swindling our boys in the armed services, as well as elderly buyers."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., backing Talley's description of the project, demanded a full investigation of the venture by the committee. Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., acting committee chairman, announced he would support Goldwater's demand.

Describing the project, Talley said the promoters advertise the land as "not raw, underdeveloped and inaccessible" but as laid out, waiting for people, livable now.

"Nothing could be further from the truth," he said.

The streets are tracks bulldozed out of the desert sands but given fancy names and described as boulevards, drives and streets, Talley said. He added that the project is 50 miles from any river and more than 100 miles from the lake whose name the project bears.

Both Goldwater and Talley stressed that most real estate subdivision projects in Arizona are legitimate.

Kenneth B. Willson, president of the National Better Business Bureau, New York City, joined Talley in advocating tougher local law enforcement as well as federal enforcement to crack down on phony promotion schemes.

Many of the violations, Willson said, are outside federal jurisdiction and local enforcement "is woefully inadequate and, in many cases, nonexistent."

Attorney General Releases Opinion On Grain Taxes

Any farmer who produces grain in one farming operation, but extending into more than one taxing district within one county, can only be taxed by the district in which he resides.

This opinion was released Wednesday by the state attorney general's office on request from State Tax Commissioner Forrest Johnson.

However, the opinion added, the farmer who produces grain in one farming operation extending into more than one county must report his production total in each county where he grows grain.

De Gaulle Brushes Off Criticism Of His Policies

Paris (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle Wednesday brushed aside criticisms of his independent nuclear policy and his tough stand on Britain's entry into the Common Market. He told his cabinet he will adhere to his firm policy on both issues.

Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte said De Gaulle told his ministers Wednesday he was speaking of hard "realities" when he rejected President Kennedy's proposal for a separate NATO nuclear force and refused to make any concessions to facilitate Britain's entry into the Common Market.

De Gaulle's stand, announced in his news conference Monday, stirred up criticism on both sides of the Atlantic.

Approximate

Peyrefitte, following Wednesday's cabinet session, gave newsmen what he called a "very approximate quotation" of remarks made by De Gaulle after Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville had reported to the cabinet on the international situation.

Couve de Murville presumably mentioned the foreign criticism of De Gaulle's news conference remarks. De Gaulle replied, according to Peyrefitte:

"In the modern world there is a sort of universal convention that realities should not appear in the open but should be carefully dissimulated by appearances.

"When someone happens to talk clearly of realities he causes a stir.

"If someone happens to say Britain is an island there is a stir.

"If someone happens to say NATO is under American command everyone shouts that it's scandalous to say that.

"But it is on reality that the future must be built."

Settled Quickly

The noted French economic planner Jean Monnet, known as the "father of the Common Market," said negotiations for Britain's entry into the 6-nation European economic group could be settled quickly despite De Gaulle's opposition.

Whopping 8 Per Cent Increase In Nebraska Retail Sales Reported

Retail sales in Nebraska during November showed a whopping 8% increase over a year ago and a 3.1% climb over the preceding month.

Business in Nebraska, prepared by the University of Nebraska's Bureau of Business Research, reported that hard goods sales led the way with 15.2% gain over a year ago, compared with soft goods increase of 4.4%.

Auto dealers showed the biggest gains—up 17.5%—among the types of stores. Decreases were reported by luxury and apparel stores, and eating and drinking places, the bulletin said.

The unadjusted city business index, including bank debits, building activities, retail sales, electricity and gas consumed, water pumped, postal receipts, and news advertising showed a 6.3% increase over a year ago.

Cities showing increases in the general index were: South Sioux City, up 29%; York, 17; Grand Island, 14.9; Falls City, 13.3; Norfolk, 13.2; Alliance and Holdrege, both 13.1; Fairbury, 10.3; Broken Bow, 10; Scottsbluff, 9.3; Nebraska City, 8.7; McCook, 8.3; Fremont, 7.4; Kearney, 7.3; Lincoln, 7.1; Hastings, 3.0; North Platte, 2.8; Omaha, 2.6; Sidney, 1.7; and Columbus, 0.7.

Chadron, down 6.7%, was the only city reporting a decrease.

The city-by-city index of November retail sales, adjusted for price and seasonal changes, follows:

	Per Cent of Nov., 1961	Per Cent of Oct., 1962
NEBRASKA	8.0	3.1
Omaha	10.8	3.8
Lincoln	13.4	9.1
Grand Island	14.8	1.4
Hastings	- 1.5	6.1
North Platte	5.9	5.4
Fremont	5.1	17.4
Fairbury	7.7	- 2.6
Norfolk	17.7	23.1
Scottsbluff	3.7	12.5
Columbus	6.0	11.2
McCook	7.2	11.7
York	13.6	- 6.1
Kearney	19.9	5.6
Alliance	9.0	- 0.9
Nebraska City	6.4	4.2
Broken Bow	4.2	1.9
Falls City	8.2	1.2
Holdrege	17.2	18.9
Chadron	16.3	5.6

Why Grow Old?

The BIP Treatment

Josephine Lowman

Those thousands of readers who are following my new Beauty Improvement Plan (BIP) now know how to determine their ideal weight, how to measure themselves and judge their measurements and how to begin calorie counting. Today, I want to give you some information about exercise and the part it plays in my BIP routine.

Before considering exercise, have your heart and blood pressure checked by your physician. If there are no reasons to refrain from exercise, make it a part of this eight-week plan. You will probably be so pleased with the results that you will continue at the end of that time.

Exercise redistributes your weight more attractively. If you are out of proportion now, you will still be so after losing weight — if you don't exercise. You will just be smaller all over. If you are overweight you will have to count calories, too. If you are the correct weight, but out of proportion, exercise is for you!

Scales Are Wrong!

On this, the fourth day of your BIP routine, you should have some encouraging weight loss to your credit. If not, one of two things is responsible: (1) you're fudging or (2) your scales are lying! Maybe you aren't counting calories accurately. Cut to 1200 a day.

Exercise also tones the body as the extra pounds drop away. It burns calories and therefore is an aid in losing weight. It also makes you feel full of energy, if you do not overdo.

General directions concerning exercise:

Start in very slowly so that sore muscles and fatigue do not discourage you. You should feel relaxed, but fresh, after exercise, never exhausted. If you feel tired after a short rest following exircise, you are doing too much. Feel your way along. Most women can do a half dozen or so exercises from five to 10 times to begin with. Then work up to 25 or 30 times each a day.

My Beauty Improvement Plan Kit gives you nine "champion" exercises. I call them that because I know that they are very effective. Today, I will give you two of them.

1. For a protruding abdomen:

Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor overhead. Bend both knees up close to the abdomen and clasp the knees with the hands. Straighten the legs toward the ceiling and lower them slowly to the floor as your arms return to the overhead position. Stretch out. Continue.

2. For the waistline:

This is an old standby but very good if it is done correctly. Stand with your feet comfortably separated and your arms at your sides. Bend over and try to touch your fingertips to the floor while keeping your knees stiff. If you cannot touch the floor, go down as far as you can with stiff knees. Now comes the important part. Raise your arms to a sideward-shoulder height position with the palms facing forward. Arms are relaxed. Now lift your rib-cage up as far as you can. Hold for a few seconds. Continue.

If you have missed the first part of my Beauty Improvement Plan which is running this week, you may want to have the BIP KIT which gives you complete information and directions for this eight-week course. My BIP Weight Chart, on which you can chart your loss of weight and watch your beauty line rise as your weight drops is included. I'll send you a kit if you'll just drop a quarter and your printed name and address into an envelope and mail to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Dr. Merk Hobson of the University of Nebraska will be guest speaker for the Thursday morning Lecture Circle this morning, when he will address the group on the topic, "Space Exploration and Its Implications".

The program will be held at 10 o'clock at the Lincoln YWCA.

Members of the Soroptimist Club of Lincoln will meet for a noon luncheon Saturday at the Hotel Cornhusker, after which the group will make a tour of the nuclear power plant at Hallam.

Mrs. Richard Stephens presided at the Tuesday evening meeting of Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, held at the chapter rooms.

The program was given by Mrs. Jack Dodds, who spoke on, "You and Your Audience", and by Mrs. Ed Loomis, whose topic was "Your Poise and Charm".

The January meeting of Lakeview PTA was held Tuesday evening at the school and featured a talk on his recent trip to Russia by the Rev. C. George Kuhn.

Following the program, a social hour was held with mothers of 5th and 6th graders as hostesses.

TOWN TALK

There are those unhappy mornings, now and then, when we can't seem to get all of the news told. We have had some of those mornings during the current week, and we have some catching-up to do.

First — the guests who were in town the past weekend. They were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Presnell who spent a brief time as the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Buck.

Mr. and Mrs. Presnell who are former Lincoln residents, now are residing at Richmond, Ky., where Mr. Presnell is a college coach.

* * *

And we have wanted to mention some homecomers —Mr. and Mrs. John P. Miller — who have returned from Clinton, Iowa, where they spent the entire holiday season with members of the family.

* * *

Now that we have settled the score with the past, we'll mention the present and delve into the future—

The present involves a Wednesday morning coffee and "novelty" bridge party for which Mrs. Owen Beach was hostess at her home in farewell courtesy to Mrs. David Olson. Mr. and Mrs. Olson and their family, as almost everyone knows, will be leaving Lincoln one of these days to make their home in the San Francisco area. However, the date of departure has not been settled as yet.

* * *

Then we learned that there is a new member in the family of Dr. and Mrs. Richard J. Schilling of Loveland, Colo. The young lady is Jennifer Jean, and although she has but recently joined Dr. and Mrs. Schilling's household, she made her world debut on Aug. 17 of last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Schilling of Lincoln are Jennifer Jean's paternal grandparents, and her maternal grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Roy E. Willies reside in Bethesda, Md.

* * *

We'll begin the future with news of the Saturday Night Club. The members will dine and dance on Saturday evening at Hotel Cornhusker, and will pay special honor to the past presidents of the club.

Arranging the party is a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lichtenberger, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Brown and Mr. and Mrs. A. Q. Schimmel.

A guest couple at the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Warren Sahs.

* * *

Now for courtesies for a bride-elect — Miss Sue Jouvenat, whose marriage to Capt. Douglas W. Howell, Jr., is planned for spring.

On Saturday morning Mrs. Emmett Junge and her daughter, Mrs. Sam Van Pelt, will compliment Miss Jouvenat when they entertain at a brunch and recipe shower at the home of Mrs. Van Pelt. Twenty-six guests have been invited.

* * *

A Sunday party for the bride-elect will have Mrs. Rex Davies as hostess. Mrs. Davies has invited the members of the family for brunch at Hotel Cornhusker.

* * *

Someone told us that Mrs. Wintha Bailey, regional admissions counsellor for William Wood College, Fulton, Mo., is spending a few days in Lincoln.

On Saturday Mrs. Bailey will meet numerous of William Wood's Lincoln alumnae at luncheon at the University Club. Hostesses for the affair will be Mrs. George Gaughan, Mrs. Ralph O. Canady, Jr., and Mrs. Joseph Neal. A William Wood student, Miss Joan Brueggeman of Syracuse, also will attend the luncheon as will alumnae from Omaha, Beatrice, Syracuse, and, of course, Lincoln.

Larry D. Miller, the director of admissions at William Wood which is a four-year as well as a two-year college for women, will show the film, "The Wonderful World of William Wood" which has a taped narration by Mary Margaret McBride, an alumnae of William Wood.

Tea Is Farewell Courtesy

Feb. 14 may be Valentine's Day to everyone else but to Mrs. Jack Berry it will be Sailing Day — the day that she, Maj. Berry and their daughter board the SS America for England and Maj. Berry's new station at Wethersfield.

In farewell courtesy to Mrs. Berry, Mrs. Robert Coffey and Mrs. Samuel Trabun entertained at tea Wednesday afternoon at the Lincoln Air Force Base Officers Club.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

PARK MANOR

Here comes another weekend, and here comes the close of another very busy week in Park Manor. As usual, the "oldsters" have been busy, but this week we have a report on what the younger set has been doing.

We know, for example, that Master Mark Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans, entertained several of his classmates at a "platter party" at his home last Saturday afternoon.

Spending the afternoon drinking soft drinks, roasting weiners and marshmallows, and listening to records were 14 of Marks's classmates from May Morley School.

And on Sunday, several young ladies were entertained by Mrs. Don Wright at a birthday party given for Mr. and Mrs. Wright's daughter, Jane. This was Jane's 11th anniversary.

The girls were transported to a local roller rink for an afternoon of skating, and then returned to the Wright home for the traditional birthday refreshments.

Helping Jane celebrate were fellow team members from the Lincoln Swim Club, Tina Adams, Candy Frank, JoDee Rowan, Linda Geis, Dee Schmidt, Ann Fritsch, and Julie Whittler; and classmates, Vicky Hoy, Tina Tallman, Julie Moreland, Suzanne Tanderup, Wendy Voss, Debby Stranathan, and Diane Falos.

And while we're talking about birthdays, we should tell you that Miss Nancy Ann Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Barrett, will be celebrating one next Tuesday.

This will be Nancy Ann's second birthday, and it will be marked with a celebration with her parents and brothers, Ricky and Billy.

And now back to the "big folks" and their busy lives and the news that Mrs. Don Forke entertained several neighbors at an informal coffee at her home yesterday morning.

The coffee was the monthly gathering for the neighborhood's coffee club which is composed of 12 regular members from Park Manor. The coffee is hosted once each year by each member, and the month's hostess also invites several neighborhood guests.

Mrs. Forke's special guests yesterday were Mrs. Bill Hastings, Mrs. Jack Moore, Mrs. Don Hamman, Mrs. Charles Myers, Mrs. Jim Hacker, Mrs. Carl Jolliff, and Mrs. Frank Calfbeek.

Sounds like a fun way to get to know your neighbors, neighbors!

And here's the latest report on one of the neighborhood bowling teams! We hear that Mrs. Russell Rauch, Mrs. Maynerd Week, Mrs. Earl DeVries, and Mrs. A. H. Krantz are doing "not too well, but not too bad" in their Thursday afternoon bowling league.

Regardless of their league standing, the ladies are having a "ball!"

And bouncing back to last week for a moment we can tell you that a soon-to-move Park Manor resident was honored by neighbors at a no-host luncheon at the Legion Club last Wednesday.

The guest of honor was Mrs. Jack Irvine, who will soon be moving to Central Iowa, and her well wishers were Mrs. Val Zitek, Mrs. Don Yates, Mrs. Howard Miller, Mrs. Bob Dunn, Mrs. Ralph Adams, Mrs. Ernest Anderson, Mrs. Lyle Schmidt Mrs. Everett Krueger, Mrs. John Conway, Mrs. Ruth Merritt, Mrs. Glenn Hessler, and Mrs. Thomas Whitcomb.

The Brides' Book

Naming the members of her bridal party for her wedding, which will take place on Saturday evening, Jan. 19, at the Havelock Christian Missionary Alliance, is Miss Kayla Miller of Lincoln, daughter of Mrs. Bill Zulkoski of Wahoo, and the late Orville Miller, who will become the bride of Glenn S. Paswaters, Jr., of Lincoln.

Attending her sister-in-law as matron of honor will be Mrs. Darrel Miller of Omaha.

The Rev. Robert Paswaters of Omaha will serve his brother as best man, and seating the guests for the 7 o'clock service will be Duane Umland, Syracuse; Marvin Kemper, Cheney; and John Weyers.

Mr. Paswaters is the son of Mrs. Glenn Paswaters.

Miss Carolyn Kay Vincent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Vincent of Alvo, has revealed plans for her marriage to Gary E. Trunkenbolz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Trunkenbolz of Eagle, which will be solemnized on Saturday evening, Jan. 19.

For her maid of honor, the bride-to-be has chosen Miss Karen Wingate of Tilden, and her bridesmaids will be Miss Hope Taylor, Wahoo; Miss Arlene Adams, Eagle; and Miss Jean Rieckman, Alvo.

Terri Copley and Susan Schroeder, both of Panama, will light the candles for the 8 o'clock service at the Alvo Methodist Church.

Robert Trunkenbolz, Eagle, will serve his brother as best man, and the ushers will be James Vincent, Alvo, brother of the bride-elect; James Cooper, Eagle; and Darryl Hinman, Scottsbluff.

Dear Abby

Be Happy With Your Gift

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I suppose I should be the happiest boy in the world today but I am not. Here is what happened: I started taking violin lessons at school from a teacher who is hired by the school to teach whole classes. I used a violin owned by the school because my father hasn't been able to work much lately and we couldn't afford to buy one. Well, this morning the violin teacher GAVE me a wonderful violin. He said the father of a student who refused to practice called him and told him to give the violin to anyone who would use and appreciate it. He chose me. I love the violin but I know whose it was, and I feel terrible taking it. What should I do?

FEELS BAD

DEAR FEELS: Don't feel bad. If the boy who first owned the violin valued it, his father would not have given it away. Master the second-hand fiddle and one day you might make concert master.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Is it wrong to send a single girl (age 19) a wedding invitation and write on the bottom of it, "Bring Mac"? (Mac is her boy friend.) My future mother-in-law said it was wrong and I should have sent Mac a separate invitation. What is your opinion?

GETTING MARRIED

DEAR GETTING: To be proper, one should send a separate invitation to each unmarried guest. Handwritten notes on formal wedding invitations are out of place. These include, "No gifts, please," "No children under 12," and "Bring Mac."

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Our son has been in the Army for a year. At first he saved almost all his pay. He'd bank it where he was stationed and send home his bank book to prove it. Lately he hasn't been sending home his bank book. We are afraid he is spending his money on his buddies to become popular, and in no time he will be bled dry. He is very immature and has no sense of responsibility. Can we get the government to send us his pay so we can save it for him? We will, in turn, send him an allowance to live on. He doesn't need much as the Army is housing and feeding him.

SOLDIER'S PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: In only very rare and exceptional cases will Uncle Sam step in and protect the loot from a man who's protecting his country. Impress upon your son the importance of saving, and pray he does.

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. D.: A spoiled child never loves its mother. You had better get some professional counseling before it is too late.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do about guys who kiss and tell?

SYLVIA

DEAR SYLVIA: Consider youself lucky. Most guys kiss and exaggerate.

Havelock YW Activities

Activities at the Havelock YWCA center for the coming week will include a meeting of the Matronettes group next Friday afternoon. The program will begin at 1:15 o'clock.

On Wednesday, the new series of classes will open with the meeting of the baton class at 6:30 o'clock.

Play-school will be held Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock, and that evening, the slim gym class will meet at 7:30 o'clock.

Thursday, three classes of tap and ballet will be held as follows: beginners, 3:30 o'clock; intermediae pupils, 4:15 o'clock; and advanced pupils, 5 o'clock.

Opening lead — five of clubs.

The expert dummy player is sometimes compared to the fictional detective who makes it his business to ferret out every possible clue and announces, near the end of the story, that the butler, or maybe the victim's great grandson, was the one who "done the old man in."

Of course, our heroic sleuth is always right—otherwise, there would be no story — and always presents with irrefutable logic the measured reasoning that led him to crack the case.

The declarer in this hand followed a similar format. He got to four spades on the optimistic sequence shown. While the two spade bid was probably all right, the jump to four was overdoing things a bit.

But having gotten there, our hero managed the affair quite well. He won the club lead with the jack and led the six of spades. When East followed with the three, he played the two. The six forced the ace, and that ended the hand for practical purposes. East-West later got a heart and a diamond, but South made four spades.

Of course, the normal way to handle the spade combination in this hand is for declarer to lead twice towards his K-Q in the hope that East was dealt either the A-x or A-x-x of spades.

But South reasoned that East could not have the ace of spades. The facts indicated otherwise. And once West was granted the ace of spades, it became pointless to waste the queen on the first spade play, since that play would surely lead to two trump losers. Instead, South had to hope that East had the J-10-x.

The big clue was the opening lead. West could not sensibly have the A-K-Q of diamonds and lead a club originally. He would have led a diamond in such case. This meant that East had one of the diamond honors, most probably the king. It followed from this that East could not also have the ace of spades; if he had, he would not have passed West's opening bid.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

It had to happen sometime. A roaring tropical storm swept the Hawaiian Islands the other night.

Great walls of rain marched up and down the garden island of Kauai. And at Honolulu Airport, planes were grounded with water piling up on the runways faster than it could run off.

As every reader of Hawaiian handouts knows, this is against all the rules of the Hawaii Visitors' Bureau — who will probably revoke my poet's license for even mentioning it.

This is the land of eternal sunshine and spring. And so it is. Except when it rains.

☆ ☆ ☆

I was down at Coco Palms when the storm hit. Coco Palms is one of the most successful attractions in Hawaii.

It is on every island tour itinerary. A cottage-type hotel set in the grove of coco palms where Queen Deborah Kapule —(6 feet and 300 pounds in her muumuu)—lived in royal splendor.

The cottages were furnished with some imagination by Grace Buscher.

You can sleep in an outrigger canoe — with a Simmons mattress.

There is a secluded outdoor rock bath with flowering vines. (I always took the shower myself. But I had myself photographed in a wrap-a-round in the rock bath and it certainly looked exotic.)

☆ ☆ ☆

The rain began blowing across the lanai and under the thatched roof so hard that the people sitting on the fringe had to move back.

Each evening there is a torch lighting ceremony.

A brown Hawaiian in a loin cloth blows a conch shell — it isn't Satchmo but you can hear it a mile away. Another Hawaiian comes leaping through the coco palms with a lighted torch. He lights luau torches all over the grounds. And the tourists say "ooh" and "ah" and flash a lot of flash globes.

It is a great benefit to Eastman Kodak.

The first Polynesians landed here at the mouth of the Wailua River about Year 500 A.D.

Captain James Cook traded with the natives at this spot.

The third important landing was made here by Miss Buscher and "Gus" Guslander 10 years ago. They opened the hotel.

I found Gus at the bar.

"No torchlight tonight I guess."

"What do you mean no torchlight?" asked Gus indignantly. "I've got 135 cottages full." He turned to the loincloth Hawaiian huddled under the thatch. "You're going to run tonight, aren't you son?"

"You bet, coach," said the Hawaiian.

"Nor sleet nor snow nor gloom of night or whatever it is they say over the Post Office," said Gus. "People come from all over the world to see the torches lit. We light 'em."

☆ ☆ ☆

The rain roared down as though it was poured out of a barrel. The conch shell blew. Up in the hillside palms, the torch was fired. The Hawaiian began running it through, touching off fixed torches stuck in the ground.

They seemed hard to light. No wonder. Each time he got one lit, the sky opened up and poured a bucket of water on it.

High and dry by the bar, Mr. Guslander looked on with satisfaction.

"We opened this place with $1000, two guests and two tired employees," he said. "The torches were Grace's idea. And now look at it."

The torches were blazing grandly, light flickering into Queen Deborah's royal fish ponds. The guests applauded. The running Hawaiian came under the thatch and shook himself like a dog.

"Good work son," said Gus.

"Thanks, coach," said the Hawaiian.

Merrill Opens Custody Tiff With 'Proper Visitation' Bid

Santa Monica, Calif. (AP) — Actor Gary Merrill opened his child custody battle with Bette Davis Wednesday with a request for permission to visit their son, Michael, every other weekend.

Merrill contends he does not have proper visitation rights. He also wants Michael, 10, to spend half his vacations with him.

Also involved are the couple's two other children, Barbara, 15, and Margot, 12.

Barbara, Bette's daughter by a previous marriage, appeared in court with her mother.

Merrill has adopted Barbara, but he testified Wednesday:

"She wrote me a letter last year and said she didn't want to have anything more to do with me.

"I still love her very much, but I left it up to her whether she wants to see me or not," he told Superior Court Judge Mervyn A. Aggeler.

Merrill, 47, said Margot is mentally retarded and is in a home in Pennsylvania.

Judge Aggeler denied a motion by Merrill's attorney to have Barbara leave the courtroom during the hearing.

Miss Davis, 54, divorced Merrill in 1960 and has contended that he is an unfit father.

Merrill once stopped his support payments in protest about his visitation rights but a financial agreement was reached later.

Michael was allowed to spend a week with Merrill during the Christmas holidays under terms of a court ruling last month.

State Federal Savings Has $47.2 Million

M. S. Hevelone, president of State Federal Savings and Loan Association, at an annual meeting held Wednesday at the home office in Beatrice, announced that total assets of the company were $47,252,732.

The total, as of Dec. 31, 1962, constitutes a 20% increase from assets reported a year ago, Hevelone said.

The association also reported record dividend payments of $1,487,200 paid in 1962 to savings account holders. This is a 23% increase from the total dividends in 1961.

Construction

Hevelone said that during 1962, the association began construction of a new branch office building in Hastings and started remodeling processes at the Lincoln branch at 238 So. 13th.

The annual report also revealed that the association mortgage - lending volume rose to $10,798,678, an increase of nearly 40% over 1961.

H. R. Deitemeyer of Beatrice and Glenn Buck of Lincoln were re-elected directors for a 3-year term. Other directors include Hevelone, H.E. Sackett and J. Don Stevens.

Officers elected following the annual meeting are Hevelone, president; O. D. Johnson, vice president and branch manager of the Lincoln office; L. E. Whittaker, vice president and secretary; W. R. Arpke, assistant secretary and treasurer; Eyleene Woods, assistant treasurer.

Adult Education Teaches Flying, Welding, Others

Lincoln adults can learn to fly, make hats, tune up autos or weld in some of the many adult education classes offered this spring by Lincoln public schools.

A brochure issued by Chester H. Gausman, director of vocational and adult education, lists, in addition to adult high school courses creditable for earning high school diplomas, general adult, distributive, industrial and home and family life courses.

Registration for classes will be accepted until Jan. 31 through instructors listed in the brochure.

The adult education program in Lincoln is explained as part of a greater community education move which not only endeavors to utilize school facilities to their full limits, but also provides additional courses in language, homemaking, industry and economics which will broaden the interests and enjoyment of local citizens.

Karras To Discuss Bets With NFL Commissioner

. . . MEETING TODAY IN NEW YORK

New York (AP)—Star defensive tackle Alex Karras of the Detroit Lions said Wednesday night that he was flying to New York Thursday to appear before National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle to discuss admissions he had wagered on football games.

Karras said in taped television interviews that he bet on league games, but that the bets amounted to no more than "a pack of cigarettes or a couple of cigars and only with close friends."

In an interview with NBC, taped Sunday for a Wednesday evening newscast, Karras was asked if he bet on ball games. He answered:

"I have bet on ball games."

Question: "Have you ever bet on a ball game in which you were playing?

Answer: "Yes, I have."

In another interview, with Dave Diles of WXYZ-TV in Detroit, made Wednesday, Karras said:

". . . I never bet more than a pack of cigarettes or a couple of cigars and only with close friends. I never bet with a bookie or talked with one. I don't even know any bookie . . ."

Would Take Test

Karras also told Diles that he was willing to take a lie detector test, adding that "I have nothing to hide."

"I look at it this way," he said. "If I had lied in the NBC interview and said I'd never made any kind of a bet and later in a lie detector test was asked the same thing — if I lied then, the way I'm built the lie detector machine would explode. I just can't lie.

"If it hurts me, I'll have to suffer the consequences."

Karras also said he was flying to New York Thursday morning to see Rozelle and would "cooperate any way I can."

Linebacker Wayne Walker, another player said to have been summoned to a meeting with Rozelle, denied the report. He said in Detroit he had not spoken to Rozelle since last week and did not have any plans to go to New York.

Walker declined to comment on Karras' comments of television, but said:

"I never bet on any games — not even a college game."

Wilson Present?

Lion Coach George Wilson reportedly arrived in New York from Florida Wednesday to confer with the commissioner.

There has been no confirmation of a meeting from the NFL office.

"Alex Karras will be given an opportunity to explain the published remarks attributed to him," Rozelle said, "We have not and will not disclose details of the investigation. When it is completed, we will make a statement."

WILDLIFE GROUP BACKS HUNTING BAN IN DAKOTA

Sioux Falls, S.D. (UPI) — The South Dakota Wildlife Federation's Legislative Committee has praised Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., for his support of the nonresident waterfowl hunting ban in South Dakota.

The committee met here Tuesday night with McGovern.

The senator was quoted by the committee as saying that "regardless of the original purpose of the ban on waterfowl hunting by out-of-state hunters, it is now clear that the chief reason for continuing the ban is the preservation of a declining species.

"Informed conservationists and sportsmen," McGovern said, "know that there has been a drastic and serious decline in our waterfowl populations in recent years.

"This is underscored by the extremely restrictive regulations laid down by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service."

Robertson Leads East To Upset Win

Los Angeles (AP)—Oscar Robertson and much less famous players in professional basketball led the East to a convincing 115-108 victory Wednesday night over the favored West in the 13th annual National Basketball Association All-Star game.

A crowd of 14,838 packed the Sports Arena for the contest, the first ever held in Los Angeles.

The East got off to the opening lead and never was headed, while the Los Angeles fans watched in dismay and disappointment as their local idol, Elgin Baylor, was held to 17 points.

Robertson, of the Cincinnati Royals, scored 21 points to lead the East in scoring. But less renowned Jack Twyman of the Royals, Johnny Green of New York, Lee Shaffer of Syracuse and others made up the vast difference.

Defensively, Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics was prominent in the wire-to-wire triumph of the team coached by Red Auerbach of the Celtics.

Veteran Bob Pettit, St. Louis Hawks, playing in his 10th All-Star game, was the leading scorer of the game with 25 points, but the vaunted one-two punch of Baylor and Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers was cold and they were closely guarded all night. West wound up with 13.

The East led 32-25 after the first quarter, 56-50 at the half, 80-73 after 3 periods.

–NEVER HIGHER THAN 4TH–

Palmer, Weatherman Attract Attention For Crosby Golf

Pebble Beach, Calif. (AP) — Arnold Palmer never has finished the Bing Crosby golf tournament higher than 4th yet he and the weatherman are watched the closest as the 1963 edition opens Thursday with the pros shooting for $50,000.

For Palmer never had much luck in the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas, the Colonial at Fort Worth or the Los Angeles Open before winning them in his latest tries. He appears embarked on a campaign to beat the courses he hasn't whipped.

The weatherman seems up to his usual performance for Crosby's Clambake as he predicted probable rain over the weekend after sunny skies on opening day. Temperatures, however, are expected above normal so no recurrence of last year's snowstorm can be anticipated.

Ford Returns

Defending champion Doug Ford who has finished out of the money in his last 6 tournaments, aims for a comeback in this event which he captured a year ago by beating Joe Campbell on the first hole of playoff.

Ford dropped off the PGA tour last August, didn't return until November and hasn't won any money since. At both Los Angeles and San Diego he was among those cut after 36 holes. Ford blamed his layoff last fall for his drought.

Gary Player of South Africa, winner of the San Diego Open last Sunday when he dropped an 18-foot putt on the final hole, fired a warmup 63 over the Monterey Peninsula Country Club course here and ranks among the favorites. A year ago Player didn't finish in the Crosby money.

Three Courses

Once again 3 courses will handle the 312 golfers in the tournament officially known as the National Pro-Amateur. Each of the 156 pros plays with an amateur partner. On the first 3 rounds, they'll alternate over Monterey Peninsula, Cypress Point and Pebble Beach courses with the leaders playing the finals Sunday at Pebble Beach.

The individual pros divide $35,000 of the prize money with $15,000 going to the professionals on the leading pro-amateur teams.

Ford and Campbell both fired scores of 286 for the regulation 72 holes last year with Ford's par 4 winning the playoff.

Bob McCallister of Yorba Linda, Calif., teamed with Los Angeles Angels outfielder Albie Pearson for a best-ball of 255. Lil Albie played with a handicap of 10 strokes per round a year ago but has been reduced to 5 this time. Handicaps are figured in the pro-amateur best ball scores.

All 3 courses bordering the Pacific Ocean present tough challenges with pars of 72. Monterey Peninsula, generally considered the least difficult, measures 6,246 with trees to buffer the breezes. Cypress Point extends 6,317 and Pebble Beach 6,702.

Two KOs, Three TKOs Highlight Boxing Card

Talbot Gains Decision Win

Five fights failed to go the route on Lincoln's amateur boxing card Wednesday night, but KO artist Bill Talbot had to fight the full 3 rounds to win the feature bout against Omaha's Forrest Phillips.

Talbot had needed less than two minutes total time to win two previous bouts this season and had breezed through the Southeast District Golden Gloves last winter with 3 knockouts before being stopped himself in the Midwest Championship fights at Omaha.

Phillips, a ring veteran and former Omaha city champion, forced Talbot to box with him and the Lincoln fighter from Larry Emery's stable was unable to land the big bomb.

Unanimous Decision

Talbot's aggressiveness impressed the judges, however, who awarded him the unanimous decision.

The first two fights on the card ended in knockouts with Bob Gropp of the Emery camp stopping Kansas City's Howard Griffith after 1:22 of the second round and John Woods of Kansas City putting Gene Acosta's Kay Lewis down for the full count in 1:28 of the first round.

The fight was Lewis' first bout and he ran into a tough customer from the Missouri city.

Three fights ended in TKOs. The Emery camp's Ray Tuttle weathered a first round barrage by Falls City's Jim Riggins, who decided he had had enough after 1:25 of the second round.

Fight Stopped

Riggins threw everything he had at Tuttle in the first two minutes, but had nothing left for the final two rounds and referee Gene Buzzello stopped the fight.

Kenny Phillips, also fighting for Emery, made his first fight a success with a TKO victory over Don Huddleston of York in 1:25 of the second round.

In the most popular fight of the night for the estimated 1,100 fans, Jim Blake rapped out a TKO win over Calvin Ironshell of Hastings, fighting out of Grand Island.

Popular Puncher

Blake used his popular, free-swinging style to land some heavy punches on the former Grand Island District Golden Gloves champion.

But the Lincoln battler also took some heavy bombs from Ironshell in the exchanges before pinning the Hastings fighter against the ropes at the start of the 3rd round.

Blake was flailing away as Ironshell leaned against the ropes when Buzzello halted the action.

In another popular bout, Al Phillips of the Emery stable rapped out a split decision over Kansas City champion Terry Allen in a bout that found both fighters bleeding profusely at the end.

Reach Advantage

Allen, a short stocky middleweight, gave away considerable reach to Phillips and used a long overhand right to reach the taller foe.

Bill Conway, a two-time Kansas City champion, won an unpopular split decision over Lincoln's Eddie Phillips in a slambang flyweight match.

Phillips pressed Conway throughout the fight and landed some good blows, but Conway's boxing ability scored points with the judges.

Emery's heavyweight combo of Bob Lockett and Keith Werner each scored wins by decisions — Werner defeating Omaha's Frank Devaney and Lockett getting the nod over Kansas City's Roy Rodriquez.

Ring Savvy

Werner had too much ring savvy and class for Devaney as he dropped him for an 8-count and sent repeated jabs to the face which had the Omaha fighter's nose bleeding freely through most of the fight.

Jerry Sipp of the Emery camp proved his earlier win over teammate Jack Truax was no fluke by pounding out another clear decision.

Emery fighters won 10 of the 15 bouts and only two Emery fighters lost — Truax to his teammate Sipp, and Eddie Phillips.

Acosta sent 3 fighters into the ring with all 3 losing. Kansas City boxers won 3 and lost 3 while Omaha fighters showed a 1-4 mark. Falls City, York and Grand Island each had one entry—a loser and Fairbury's only entrant, Bill Edwards, won.

The smoker action at the State Fairgrounds 4-H Arena was the final action before the Southeast District Golden Gloves Feb. 1-2.

NU After First Loop Win At Kansas Saturday Night

Nebraska and Kansas basketball teams, both seeking their first win in Big 8 Conference play, get together Saturday at Lawrence.

Nebraska is 0-2 in the conference with a 5-8 overall record. Kansas, winner of the pre-season Big 8 Tournament, still seeks its first victory after 3 reversals in regular season play.

Coach Dick Harp's Jayhawkers were listed among the elite after dumping both Colorado and Kansas State en route to their tournament victory at Kansas City.

Kansas' last loss to Missouri at Columbia, evened the Jayhawk season record at 7-7.

Coach Jerry Bush plans to start the same quintet which stayed within a point of Kansas State for the first half at Manhattan last Saturday night. Ivan Grupe and Charlie Jones will be at forward, Bill Vincent at center and Daryl Petsch and Earl Wright at guard.

The Huskers will leave Friday morning and plan a workout at Lawrence that evening.

George Unseld, KU's 6-7 pivot and Nolen Ellison who has played almost every minute of every game the Jays have engaged in, are the big guns in the Kansas attack. Each is averaging more than 15 points a game.

Grupe's 19-point production against Kansas State moved the 6-4 forward from Byron into the No. 2 spot among Nebraska scorers. Big Ike has a 12.6 average for the 13 games played against Petsch's 14.5.

Dallas-Ft. Worth Gets 3 Players From Twins

Dallas (AP)—The Dallas-Fort Worth Rangers of the Pacific Coast League announced 3 more players had been obtained from the Minnesota organization Wednesday.

The players are first baseman Ray Looney, second baseman Jim Snyder and 3rd baseman Jimmy Hall.

Ex-Links Star Named GI Pro

Grand Island—Merle Backlund, former Lincoln High School football and basketball star, has been named the new professional at the Grand Island Riverside Golf Club.

Backlund played collegiate golf at the University of Colorado, winning medalist honors in the 1963 National Intercollegiate Tournament with a 36-hole otal of 67-68—135.

He also captained the CU golf team 3 years.

In 1956 Backlund tied Lincolnite Bill Mowbray for the Nebraska state championship before losing in the 18-hole playoff at the Lincoln Country Club.

Backlund turned professional in 1959, serving as pro at Paradise Valley CC in Casper, Wyo., and at Arrowhead CC in Chillicothe, Ill. He also operated a golf resort at Peoria, Ill.

BROWNS' LEADER . . . Collier at news conference.

—'ALL PLAYS WON'T COME IN FROM BENCH'—

Blanton Collier Named Coach At Cleveland

Cleveland (AP)—Blanton Collier took over Wednesday as head football coach of the Cleveland Browns and quickly made a major change from the Paul Brown regime: All the plays won't come in from the bench.

"Pro football is much too complicated for any one player or coach to call all the signals," the 56-year-old Kentuckian told a crowded news conference. "Basically, I plan to have the quarterback call the plays."

There has to be coordination and consultation between the quarterback and coach, Collier said. "The average quarterback wants and needs guidance. We will use checkoffs so as to be able to change the play at the line of scrimmage."

Staff Retained

Collier, promoted from backfield coach to head coach under a 3-year contract at an unannounced salary, retained the rest of the Cleveland coaching staff. Only Paul Brown will be missing—shelved in a club vice presidency for which duties are still to be defined.

Harold Sauerbrei, a former Cleveland sports writer who has been with the Browns since 1954, became general manager.

Those were the announcements from Arthur B. Modell, club president, as the follow-up to the stunning news a week ago that Brown had been removed from the jobs of coach and general manager he had held for 17 years.

Brown was out of town, believed to be in Florida.

"Paul was the first man I spoke to after Art Modell offered me the job Sunday," Collier said. "We talked for some time and Paul told me: 'You have to accept the job. You have your family to think of. I understand it completely.'"

First Choice

Model said Collier was his first choice and the only man he talked with about the position. "I could not possibly be more pleased that Blanton has agreed to coach the team," said the 39-year-old owner who fired Brown.

Brown was ousted, Modell has said, because of player dissatisfaction leading to the threat by seven players to quit if the same coach remained in 1963. The owner also felt the 54-year-old master coach didn't get the players to realize their full potential.

Brown on the other hand said he was fired because Modell wanted to take a stronger hand and become a "playing owner" in areas once ruled by the man who has been honored with the team name.

How well Modell and Collier are able to get along remains to be seen. But off his performance with the newsmen Wednesday—including a masterful 40-minute discourse on the strategy of football—the scholarly Collier seems to be gripping the reins.

Coach Comments

Here's some of the things the new coach touched on:

Quarterback—"Frank Ryan earned the right to run the football team by his performance last season after Jim Ninowski was injured. Ryan gets first priority."

Jim Brown—"You have to handle some individuals with a pat on the back once in a while. Others don't need it. Jim Brown is the greatest fullback of all time Since he has such great running ability and runs so much, it is not on the side of wisdom to have him worry too much about blocking."

His new job—"I am honored, flattered and, I think, justifiably proud to have been offered what is generally considered one of the top positions in football—the ultimate in the coaching profession . . ."

Paul Brown—"Humbleness and humility that results from replacing not only one of the greatest football coaches of all time, but also the man who gave me my start in professional football."

Other changes—"Basically little change in the offensive patterns. Remember I learned my football from Paul. I do hope to install certain little things of my own. I do have ideas that differ some from Paul."

Weaknesses—"Big interior linemen, a big running back and good receivers. It remains to be seen if we have enough on hand or if we have to do some trading."

Although two years his senior, Collier has operated for more than a decade in the coaching shadow of Brown, whom he first met while at Great Lakes Naval Training Station. The 2nd class petty officer so impressed 2nd Lt. Paul Brown, then head man at Great Lakes, that Collier was taken on as assistant coach.

Collier was brought to Cleveland when Brown formed the club in 1946 and stayed until 1954. In 8 seasons as head coach at the University of Kentucky, Collier compiled a mediocre 41-36-3 record. When he was fired, Brown took him back as backfield coach.

The reunion was exactly a year ago: Jan. 16, 1962.

Cautious Outlook By NCAA, AAU

. . . TALKS BEGIN FRIDAY

New York (AP)—High officials of the warring National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union expressed cautious optimism Wednesday that Gen. Douglas MacArthur may resolve their power struggle in track and field and other areas.

The statements by William W. Russell, who will head the NCAA delegation to the meeting with MacArthur, and AAU delegate Louis J. Fisher came in the wake of charges by the executive director of the AAU that the president and secretary of the U.S. Olympic Committee had violated rules of the International Olympic Committee.

"We will enter the meeting with Gen. MacArthur with a constructive, optimistic and cooperative attitude," said Russell, head of the NCAA delegation and president of the U.S. Track and Field Federation, which was organized by the NCAA.

"We have great confidence in the general's ability to resolve this problem," he said in a cautiously worded, prepared statement.

"With such an outstanding and a fair-minded man as Gen. MacArthur serving as arbitrator it is inconceivable to think that these talks can fail," said Fisher of High Point, N.C.

Qualifies

He qualified it a bit, however, with the observation:

"Certainly, the AAU will be ready to abide by any decision the general might make so long as it meets with our international commitments."

The phrase involving "international commitments," is the upshot of the entire 2½-year-struggle between the two groups. For years, the AAU has been recognized by international authorities as the sanctioning group for U.S. representation in the Olympic Games and other international competition.

NCAA Differs

The NCAA has contended that it should have greater representation on the sanctioning body. President Kennedy stepped into the squabble when it appeared the feud may have an adverse effect on formation of a U.S. team for the 1964 Olympics.

He appointed Gen. MacArthur to arbitrate the dispute. AAU and NCAA delegates are scheduled to meet with the 5-star general Friday.

"Gen. MacArthur was picked with the idea of settling the matter once and for all," a government spokesman said. "If the two sides aren't able to get together, the general will make a decision and that will be it."

Fires Feud

Earlier in the day, AAU executive director Col. Don Hull fired up the smouldering, complicated feud with charges that both Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, U.S. Olympic Committee president and Asa Bushnell, the organization's secretary, had violated rules of the International Olympic Committee by siding with the NCAA in one aspect of the fight.

"'This rule," Hull said, "instructs national Olympic committees to cooperate with national bodies affiliated with the international body. It also says that national committees must not recognize more than one organization and that must be the one recognized by the ICC."

Wilson refused comment on the matter.

The crux of this matter involves a peace meeting — which produced a coalition that later exploded—between the two groups last November.

National Advisory Group Created For Federation

Los Angeles (AP) — Formation of a 22-man national advisory committee to work toward settlement of the amateur athletics hassle was announced Wednesday by the U.S. Track and Field Federation.

Federation president William W. Russell said Mason W. Gross, president of Rutgers University, and William B. Aycock, chancellor of the University of North Carolina, will be co-chairmen of the group.

Gross is one of the delegates who will be meeting with representatives of the Amateur Athletic Union and Gen. Douglas MacArthur in New York on Friday.

Russell said:

"The committee reflects the nationwide support at all levels for the Federation movement and we are pleased to have it in operation."

Committee members are:

Herbert Adamas, principal, Ames, Iowa, senior high school; Lee Calhoun, teacher, Gary, Ind.; George L. Cross, president, University of Oklahoma; Harry R. Davidson, superintendent of schools, Battle Creek, Mich.; Harrison Dillard, public relations, Cleveland.

Jerome H. Holland, president, Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va.; Gerald F. Hopkins, superintendent of schools, Upper Saddle River, N.J.; Frederick L. Hovde, president, Purdue University,; John B. Hurlbut, professor of law, Stanford University; R. C. Johnson, principal, Wyandotte High School, Kansas City, Kan.; Allan Crumm, principal, Highland High School, Albuquerque, N.M.

Col. D. S. McAlister, dean of cadet affairs, The Citadel, William L. Matthews Jr., dean of law school, University of Kentucky; Kenneth E. Midgley, attorney, Kansas City, Mo.

Bobby Morrow, business, Abilene, Tex.; Nicholas McKnight, dean emeritus, Columbia University; Parry O'Brien, business, Los Angeles; Al Oerter, business, West Babylon, N.Y.; Jesse Owens, busines, Chicago, and George H. Young, dean of law school, University of Wisconsin.

Owens, Morrow, Dillard, O'Brien, Calhoun and Oerter are all former Olympic champions.

Rocket Gymnasts Topple Southeast

Lincoln Northeast took a 68-60 gymnastics victory over Southeast Wednesday afternoon as the Rockets' Bill Marple bettered the state record by four-tenths of a second in the rope climb.

Marples made the climb in 4.2 seconds to win the event over defending state champion Bob Harris of Southeast.

Husker Gymnasts Risk Perfect Mark Saturday

Coach Jake Geier's Nebraska gymnastics team puts its unbeaten record on the line when it travels to Ames, Ia., to meet Iowa State in a dual meet Saturday.

The Huskers have a 3-0 record this year with the latest victory a 80-32 triumph over Colorado State University (Greeley) last week end in Lincoln. Junior all-around ace Dennis Albers led the NU win by scoring 25 points with four firsts and a fifth place.

Links Grapplers Defeat Northeast

Lincoln High Wrestlers dropped Northeast, 25-19, Wednesday.

Peru Falls, 86-76

Peru—Tarkio Missouri College marched past Peru State Wednesday night, 86-76.

Tarkio, led by 6-2 forward Richard Marchand's 32 points, trailed the first 9 minutes of the game. Then Tarkio found the range with 11 minutes remaining in the first half and took a 44-37 lead before the half ended.

Peru trimmed Tarkio's lead to 4 points several times early in the second half but never threatened after that.

Suspects Questioned In Tropical Robbery

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Police questioned a score of suspects in Monday's $105,000 robbery in Tropical Park Race Track. They released all but continued their investigation.

The robbers, two men wearing green uniforms similar to those of track employes, took from a cashier and a guard the money that 10,000 fans had lost on the races.

Husker Swimmers To Host Denver

The University of Nebraska swimming team will host University of Denver at its first foe of the home season Saturday at 3 p.m., at the Coliseum pool.

The Cornhuskers, looking for their first win over a Denver swimming team, will face a strong outfit, NU Assistant Coach Les Roberts said.

The Huskers split a double dual against Big 10 rivals Iowa and Indiana. Nebraska beat Iowa, 58-47, but lost to powerful Indiana, 76-47. The varsity also holds a 69-26 decision over the freshmen in a pre-holiday test.

Leading the Huskers will be Co-Captains Vern Bauers and Phil Swaim, along with junior standout Bill Fowles and sophomore sensation Keefe Lodwig.

Signing-Up For Canine School To Be Jan. 23

Rosewilde Alley Acquired By City

The City Recreation Department has acquired the Rosewilde Bowling alley at 1126 P Street.

The alley will be used to offer the public open bowling nightly, beginning tonight.

Future plans call for family recreation facilities in the same building, including ping pong, cards, checkers and other games.

Whooping Crane Decline Blamed On Interior Unit

Washington (UPI) — Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., said Wednesday if the experts of the Interior Department want to know who is to blame for the latest decline in the whooping crane population he is ready to tell them.

"They are," Reuss said in a settlement.

He said the department goofed in allowing an open season, in Texas and New Mexico, on a closely-related species, the sandhill crane, and that hunters last fall undoubtedly bagged some of the whoopers by error.

Reuss noted that the Interior Department Tuesday "rather dolefully" announced that the world's sole flock of whooping cranes was down from last spring's 38 to 32 birds, with no youngsters sighted.

Wittenberg Leads UPI 'Wee' Poll

New York (UPI)—Wittenberg of Ohio, beaten only once in 9 starts, capped a steady climb to the top when it was named the nation's No. 1 small college basketball team by the United Press International Board of Coaches.

The Ohio Tigers were picked No. 1 by 14 of the 35 coaches who comprise the UPI rating board and as a result replaced defending champion Westminster (Pa.) at the top small college team in the nation in the weekly ratings. Westminster, first every week of the season, was picked No. 1 by only 7 coaches this week and slipped to second place.

Wittenberg suffered its only loss this season to major school Eastern Kentucky. Westminster began a 3-game losing streak by losing to Wittenberg on Dec. 29 and in turn was beaten by major schools Pittsburgh and St. Francis (Pa.). The Pennsylvania Titans' record now stands at 6-3.

There was considerable shuffling among the top 10 this week as only 3rd-place Tennessee State (12-2) and 5th-place Evansville (9-3) held on to their positions.

Wittenberg defeated Dennison, Heidelberg, Hiram, Kenyon and Marietta before losing to Eastern Kentucky and then began a 4-game winning streak by beating Westminster. The Tigers were 10th in the first weekly ratings and in order moved up to 9th, 6th twice, 5th and second before gaining the top.

Tennessee State already has won a game this week—beating Lincoln on Monday—but the ratings are based on games played through Saturday, Jan. 12.

Team	Points
1. Wittenberg (14) (8-1)	285
2. Westminster (Pa.) (7) (6-3)	271
3. Tennessee State (3) (12-2)	231
4. Grambling (2) (14-1)	196
5. Evansville (4) (9-3)	189
6. Southern Illinois (2) (7-4)	146
7. Prairie View A&M 11-2)	137
8. Southeast Missouri (1) (11-0)	118
9. Hofstra (11-4)	66
10. Southeastern Oklahoma (10-3)	40

Second 10—11 (tie), Akron and Fresno State 23 each; 13, Orange State 21; 14 (tie), Chapman and Santa Barbara 15 each; 16, Gannon 13; 17 (tie), Augsburg (1), Lamar Tech, Pacific Lutheran (1) and Southwestern Oklahoma 12 each.

CONTRACT SIGNING

Bob Friend, right, pitcher for the National League Pittsburgh Pirates, signs his 1963 contract as Bucs general manager Joe L. Brown looks on.

Norfolk, Fairbury JC's Rated In National Poll

Dodge City, Kan. (AP) — The Pueblo, Colo., Indians, with a 10-1 record, hold the top spot in the first basketball coaches poll of the season in the National Junior College Athletic Association.

Moberly, Mo. (9-1) was second and New York City Community College (9-2) 3rd.

Behind them, in order, were:

Broome Tech of Binghamton, N.Y.; Howard County of Big Spring, Tex.; San Angelo, Tex.; Coffeyville, Kan.; Burlington, Iowa; Flint, Mich.; Grandview of Des Moines, Iowa; Casper, Wyo.; Wilson Branch of Chicago; Norfolk, Neb.; Thornton of Harvey, Ill.; Hutchinson, Kan.; Sue Bennett of London, Ky.; Hershey, Pa.; Lees of Jackson, Ky.; Fairbury, Neb.; Jackson, Mich.

Dick Brown of Canton, Ill topped the individual scoring leaders with a 32.5 point average in 14 games. Russ Coleman of Centralia, Ill., was second with 31.6 in 7 games, and Gary Sparks of Fairbury, Neb., 3rd with 31.4 in 7 games.

Centralia, Ill., was the leader in team offense with a 100.6 point average against 7 opponents. Paducah, Ky., was second with 96.8 in 8 games and Wilson Branch of Chicago 3rd with 95.8 in 10 games.

Two More Assistants Join Okla. State Staff

Stillwater, Okla. (AP)—Two more assistant coaches were added Wednesday to the staff of Phil Cutchin, new head football coach at Oklahoma State University.

They are Elwood Kettler, 30, backfield coach at the University of Alabama, and Tom Turkey, 38, football coach and athletic director of Stillwater High School.

Navy Ends Speculation That Hardin Will Leave Academy

Annapolis, Md. (AP)— Navy ended speculation Wednesday that its head football coach, Wayne Hardin, would leave the academy to become coach of Stanford.

Hardin, who has been at Navy since 1955 and has been head coach for the past 4 years, was rumored among top prospects to succeed Jack Curtice, whose contract was not renewed at Stanford.

"We want to put an end to the speculation concerning the Naval Academy football coaching job," Capt. William S. Busik, director of athletics said in a statement.

"Wayne Hardin will fill that position in 1963 as he has for the past 4 years.

"Wayne will remain on the West Coast for the rest of this month and return to the Academy the first of February to begin mapping plans for spring practice, said Busik.

Much of the speculation that Hardin would take the Stanford job was centered on the facts that Stockton, Calif., was his hometown, he played sports at the College of Pacific, he coached high school and junior college football in California and he has been visiting the West Coast since the Christmas holidays.

Hardin, 35, first came to the academy as Navy's defensive backfield coach under Eddie Erdelatz in 1955.

Since taking over as head coach he has compiled a record of 26 victories, 13 losses and one tie. The victories included 4 straight over arch-rival Army.

Proposed Amendment Could Abolish State Railway Commission

The Nebraska Railway Commission would be abolished as a constitutional entity if a proposed amendment introduced in the Legislature Wednesday is finally approved by the voters.

The amendment embodied in LB258 would give the Legislature the power to regulate rates, service and exercise general control over common carriers by law.

The Legislature could decide to retain the commission, even if the amendment were approved. The proposed amendment would remove from the constitution the present specific provision for the State Railway Commission, but would leave to the Legislature the decision on its future.

The bill was introduced by Sens. Marvin Stromer of Lincoln, George Gerdes of Alliance, W. H. Hasebroock of West Point, Jerome Warner of Waverly and Matt Wylie of Elgin.

The proposed constitutional amendment would be put to a vote of Nebraskans in November of 1964 if the Legislature approves the bill.

The proposal runs counter to the activity of a legislative council study committee which has been laboring to recodify railway commission law and revise the railway commission setup within the framework of a constitutional amendment approved by voters last November under which the size of the commission could be increased from 3 to as many as 7 members.

Altogether, 31 bills were introduced in the Unicameral Wednesday.

Sixteen of these were measures proposed by the Nebraska Judicial Council and delivered by the judiciary committee headed by Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala.

One of the judicial council bills rewrites Nebraska laws on searches and seizures. Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer has led the searches-seizures law effort.

Attention was focused on the need for state law revision by a U.S. Supreme Court decision extending federal searches and seizures principles to state courts, and the subsequent narcotics prosecutions in Lincoln involving band leader Les Elgart and some of his musicians. Elgart and the other defendants were freed of the charges on grounds evidence against them had been obtained illegally.

Sen. T. C. Reeves of Central City introduced a bill under which no area of 3,500 acres or more could be acquired by eminent domain by any agency of government without approval by the Legislature.

Sen. M. M. Forrester of Anselmo introduced a bill requiring motorists to dim head lamps when following another vehicle at a distance of 200 feet or less.

A bill by Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance would make property owners in first class cities liable to damages for failure to keep sidewalks clear of snow, ice, mud and slush.

Legislative Bills Introduced

Bills introduced in the Legislature Wednesday:

LB255 (Reeves)—Providing that no area of 3,500 acres or more may be acquired by eminent domain unless approved by the Legislature.

LB256 (Syas, Orme, Foster, Kjar, Gerdes)—Increasing service necessary to qualify for school retirement allowance and revising other provisions.

LB257 (Danner)—Giving Court of Industrial Relations jurisdiction over industrial disputes involving governmental service in a proprietary capacity.

LB258 (Stromer, Gerdes, Hasebroock, Warner, Wylie)—Abolishing State Railway Commission as creature of the constitution and authorizing Legislature to provide for the functions.

LB259 (Damrow)—Providing for appointment instead of election of city clerk in first class cities.

LB260 (Forrester, Kjar)—Requiring motorists to dim head lamps when following another vehicle within 200 feet.

LB261 (Erickson)—Revising provisions of school redistricting law related to Class VI districts.

LB262 (Payne) — Redefining public power district areas and revising qualifications of electors and directors.

LB263 (Payne) — Harmonizing provisions of law related to volunteer fire companies.

LB264 (Gerdes) — Making property owner in first class cities liable to damages for failure to keep sidewalks clear of snow, ice, mud and slush.

LB265 (Gerdes, Adamsen)—Authorizing board of educational lands and funds to set the salary of the board secretary.

LB266 (Brandt, Russell, McGinley)—revising law relating to civil procedure and procedures when a proper corporate supersedeas bond is approved and filed.

LB267 (Adamsen, Craft, Gerdes)—making 12 years the minimum lease, instead of the fixed term of lease, on state school lands.

LB268 (Gerdes, Bowen)—creating livestock auction market board and providing for licensing of livestock auction markets.

LB269 (Damrow, Goltschalk)—removing the $4,000 limitation on the salary of the city clerk in first class cities.

LB270 (Judiciary committee)—providing procedure for sale of real estate by guardians and revising related law.

LB271 (Judiciary)—providing manner of service of process in civil actions against the State of Nebraska.

LB272 (Judiciary)—extending time for fiduciaries to mail hearing notices to beneficiaries.

LB273 (Judiciary)—extending time for filing a fiduciary report and petition.

LB274 (Judiciary)—providing for judicial review of any final decision of an administrative agency.

LB275 (Judiciary)—revising and bringing up-to-date provisions of the Uniform Criminal Extradition Act.

LB276 (Judiciary)—providing new law on searches and seizures.

LB277 (Judiciary)—providing manner of appealing to district court when law fails to prescribe the procedure.

LB278 (Judiciary)—making district court procedures applicable to county courts.

LB279 (Judiciary)—clarifying obligations of witnesses in district court civil cases.

LB280 (Judiciary)—increasing per diem and mileage payable to district court and grand jury witnesses, from $2 to $6 per day, from 5 to 8c per mile.

LB281 (Judiciary)—revising procedure for sale of real estate by executors and administrators.

LB282 (Judiciary)—setting out circumstances under which individual involved in court action waives right to confidential communication relationship with physician or surgeon.

LB283 (Judiciary)—revising provisions of law relating to change of name.

LB284 (Judiciary)—providing for appeals to court from orders of county superintendent changing school district boundaries.

LB285 (Judiciary)—revising procedures related to creation of street improvement districts in second class cities and villages.

6-Year High School Bill Planned

State Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud said Wednesday he will definitely introduce some kind of a compulsory 6-year high school redistricting bill.

He said it would require all property to be assessed in a high school district by 1968. The measure would also repeal the existing free high school tuition law by then.

Bowen described it as a compromise bill. It would be a compromise between those who want a compulsory K-12 (kindergarten through 12th grade) district and opponents of any kind of compulsory redistricting.

Bowen's decision to introduce the measure was made in the face of opposition by State Education Commissioner Dr. Floyd Miller.

At a board meeting last week, Miller said he felt 6-year high schools would result in administrative and redistricting difficulties. Miller said such a law would create more problems than it would solve. But he emphasized his belief Bowen's proposal was made in good faith and described the Red Cloud senator as one of the best friends of education in the Legislature.

Bowen, however, said state education officials have given him "no good reasons why it would not be practical."

On the other hand, he added, "I have received many, many letters from experienced and interested educators who feel the bill has merit."

He contended the measure would encourage redistricting and said it might eventually lead to K-12 district throughout the state.

"It will allow districts to build adequate facilities for at least 6 years of education without relying on the free high school tuition which is not stable," he said.

Baker's Best For Dandruff–Itchy Scalp

DES MOINES, Iowa — Mr. Thomas M. Taylor, 663 Cummins Road, S. E. says: "For thirty-five years I searched for a product that was good for dandruff. At last I found it, Baker's Hair Tonic. I wish every dandruff victim knew about Baker's. It's the greatest for dandruff and itchy scalp." For years Baker's Hair Tonic has been tops for dandruff and itchy scalp. Now, it is better than ever. It has been improved. A new ingredient has been added that makes it even more effective. You will like Baker's, or money back. For a clean scalp and lustrous hair use Baker's Shampoo.

Federal Changes Asked

Resolutions advocated by the Council of State Governments and involving changes in the federal constitution were introduced in the Nebraska Legislature Wednesday.

Identical resolutions were scheduled to be introduced Wednesday in legislatures of the other states also as part of the concerted effort related largely to state-federal relations.

Resolution 4 memorializes the calling of a federal constitutional convention to change the method of amending the U.S. Constitution. Under the amendment proposed, constitutional amendments would be offered by Congress on a two-thirds vote, or on application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the states. The amendments would take effect when ratified by three-fourths of the states.

Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City, chief introducer, noted that the federal constitution never has been amended by the constitutional convention method now provided.

Resolution 5 asks a federal constitutional amendment which would have the effect or prohibiting the federal government from exercising control over legislative reapportionemnt.

Resolution 6 proposes creation of a "court of the union" made up of chief justices of the state supreme courts with power to override decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Border Work Funds Asked

The Survey Department of the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds recommended to the Legislature Wednesday that it appropriate sufficient funds to continue a survey and study of Missouri River boundaries.

The recommendation was contained in a report prepared by state surveyor Willis L. Brown covering survey activities which have been conducted as a result of a resolution adopted by the 1961 Legislature.

The report said the state surveyor's office has prepared plats of 126 miles of the Missouri River where it forms the border between Nebraska and Missouri, and Nebraska and Iowa.

The office has been in touch with the St. Joseph, Mo., firm of Riddle Engineering Co., which is scheduled to do Missouri River border survey work for the state of Missouri.

"It is hoped that this office and the Riddle Engineering Co. will be able to determine the location of this state line to the satisfaction of each state during the summer of 1963," the report said.

The Nebraska office also is negotiating with Monona County (Iowa) officials for a joint boundary survey in that area.

Requests are being received for boundary information where the Missouri River separates Nebraska and South Dakota but no work has been done in this area.

The request for funds was referred to the Unicameral Budget Committee.

Road Job Bids Asked

Nineteen highway construction projects at a total estimated cost of $1,150,000 are listed on a proposed Feb. 7 bid opening announced Wednesday by the State Department of Roads.

Included are 7 miles of gravel surfacing for a detour on Nebraska 10 between Kearney and Minden. No interstate work is involved.

The estimated cost breakdown: Federal aid primary funds $64,000, federal aid secondary funds $500,000, emergency relief funds $1,000, county funds $290,000 and state construction funds $295,000.

The projects, with county, miles involved, location and main construction features (US-United States, N-Nebraska):

County relief project

Richardson; 0.4; secondary highway north of Preston; crushed rock surfacing.

Federal aid primary projects

Seward; US34 between Seward and the Lancaster County line; grading, culverts and guard rail.

Kearney; 7.0; on N10 between Kearney and Minden; gravel surfaacing for detour.

Federal aid secondary project (state)

Sherman; 7.3; on N10 south of Loup City; grading, culverts and one bridge.

Federal aid secondary projects (county)

Johnson; 2.0; second highway between Filley and Crab Orchard; grading.

Rock; 6.8; secondary highway southeast of Bassett; bituminous surface course and armor coat.

Arthur; 6.0; secondary highway southeast of Arthur; grading, culverts and bituminous surface course.

Arthur; 2.4; secondary highway southeast of Arthur; grading, seal coat and bituminous surface course.

Arthur; 4.3; secondary highway west of Arthur; grading, seal coat and bituminous surface course.

Sheridan; 8.9; secondary highway beginning at a point on N27 approximately 19 miles north of Ellsworth, then easterly; grading, culverts, seal coat and bituminous surface course.

Box Butte; 7.9; secondary highway north of Hemingford; granular fill, roadbed preparation and asphaltic concrete surface course.

Scotts Bluff; 1.2; secondary highway north of McGrew; grading, soil-aggregate base course and asphaltic concrete surface course.

Scotts Bluff; 6.1; secondary highway west of Lake Minatare; subgrade reconstruction, crushed gravel base course and asphaltic concrete surface course.

Frontier; 3.3; secondary highway southwest of Stockville; gravel surfacing.

Gosper; 3.0; secondary highway near Johnson Lake; grading, soil-aggregate base course and asphaltic concrete surface course.

Nuckolls; 0.4; secondary highway east of Superior; grading, concrete pavement and culverts.

State construction projects

Lancaster; on N2 south of Lincoln; culverts.

Cass; on Interstate Highway at the Greenwood interchange; sodding.

WATER PRIORITY MAY BE ASKED

A bill which would enable municipalities to get priorities on the use of underground water within a half mile of natural streams may be submitted to the Legislature.

A tentative meeting of state senators from the Platte Valley is slated for Monday afternoon to discuss provisions of the proposed bill.

Dr. Eugene Reed of the University of Nebraska and State Water Resources Director Dan Jones have also been invited.

State Sen. T. C. Reeves of Central City, who is arranging the meeting, said he thought provisions of the proposal as now drawn would have to be toned down to make it more acceptable to the Legislature.

The main provision of the proposed bill in its present form would subject all underground water within a half mile from any river in the state to appropriation in the same manner as waters of natural streams, provided the underground water was not being put to beneficial use.

Such waters would be considered part of the river and could be taken by pump, wells, pipes, ditches or other means, under a provision of the bill as now drafted.

JFK Reverses Field On Reds

. . . USES THEIR TERMS

An AP News Analysis
By JOHN RODERICK

Tokyo (AP)—President Kennedy tarred communism with its own brush when he referred in his State of the Union message to the "neo-colonialism of the communist powers."

Since World War II, the big colonial countries of the West — Britain, France and Holland—have divested themselves of most of their empires. The losers of the war, Germany and Japan, lost theirs at the peace table.

The former colonies have largely been replaced by new, independent nations.

Been Blow

The disappearance of imperialism was a blow to the world communist movement since its doctrine was predicted on evils of imperialism and the need to overthrow it. Reluctant to make policy readjustments the communists declared that, in some insidious way, the imperialists had in reality failed to give up their grip on their old colonies and continued to suck profits out of them. This they called neo-colonialism.

Red China referred to neo-colonialism Dec. 31 when it chided Italian Communist leader Palmiro Togliatti for proposing mutual cooperation with the West in underdeveloped—that is, recently colonial—areas.

"To talk like this," said the Peking People's Daily, "is obviously to spread illusions in the interest of neo-colonialism.

"The policy of imperialism towards the underdeveloped areas, what ever its form or pattern, is bound to be a policy of colonialist plunder, and can never be a policy concerned for the progress of the underdeveloped areas."

Told Soviet

Nikita Khrushchev told the Supreme Soviet Dec. 12:

"The imperialist circles are trying to find a way out of their difficulties by organizing an attack on the living standards of the workers of their countries, and stepping up the plunder of economically underdeveloped countries. After the collapse of the world colonial empires, the plan of the imperialist monopolies is to preserve intact and even intensify the economic enslavement of young national states, to keep in chains the peoples which are still in colonial bondage."

The communist neo-colonialist concept pictures the United States, though it has annexed no territory, as a super-empire draining out profits from the old colonial countries.

LOST CHILDREN IN FIRE

Albert Schacht embraces his wife, Carol, at Holy Cross Hospital in Chicago Wednesday night after their two daughters died of injuries in an apartment house fire. Two adults also died in the blaze.

First Federal Assets For 1962 Surpass $100 Million

Assets of First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. of Lincoln topped the $100 million mark in 1962, which was the firm's 10th year as Nebraska's largest savings and loan association, Mrs. Gladys Forsyth, president announced Wednesday at the annual meeting.

Assets increased $14,417,576 or 14.9% to a new high of $110,863,282.83, according to Mrs. Forsyth.

"In every respect, the last year has been most outstanding," she said noting that substantial gains were made in every phase of the operation.

Two Changes

Two changes were made in operations: dividends are paid quarterly, and effective Jan. 1, 1963, money saved by the 15th of a month will earn from the first.

Savings accounts increased $13,172,476 to reach a total of $93,739,970 at the end of 1962, while dividends paid on savings accounts amounted to $3,438,584. The dividend rate for the 4 quarters was 4% per annum.

Reserves at the close of the year totaled $6,709,014.08.

Mortgage loans made by the association totaled 1,981 for a $30,700,566 increase over 1961.

According to Mrs. Forsyth, more than 38% of the loans held by First Federal are insured or guaranteed to the association because of the number of FHA and GI loans the firm carries.

Two New Branches

She also announced that the association was granted two new branches during 1962 by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in Washington, D.C.

Permission was granted last February to open an office at 2101 So. 42nd in Omaha and, in October, First Federal was granted leave to open a new Lincoln branch at 135 No. Cotner.

Until a new building is constructed, the new Lincoln facility is located in the Cotner Terrace Building on No. Cotner.

4 Marian Sisters To Teach In West Part Of Diocese

Four Marian sisters will teach in towns in the western part of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Lincoln next August at the request of pastors in the area.

The sisters will teach in Alma, Arapahoe, Cambridge, Heartwell, Holdrege, Indianola, Minden, Orleans, Oxford and Smithfield.

The new program is designed to improve the religious instruction of Catholic children in the area. The sisters will be aided by lay men and women from the 8 counties they will serve.

The Marian sisters staff St. John's School and St. Thomas Orphanage in Lincoln.

21st And J Collision Cuts, Bruises Head

A two-car collision at 21st and J Wednesday afternoon sent a 21-year-old Lincoln man to Bryan Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released.

William B. Heatherly, of 3241 Holdrege, suffered cuts and bruises of the head, according to hospital authorities.

Police said Linda G. Nichols, 19, of 2541 No. 59th, was driving the other car westbound on J.

Actress Hospitalized

Atlanta (UPI)—Screen actress Susan Hayward has entered Georgia Baptist Hospital for "diagnostic tests," it was disclosed. A hospital spokesman said she probably would leave the hospital Thursday.

Willis Hecht President Of Savings Assn.

Willis R. Hecht, Lincoln attorney, was elected president of Lincoln Federal Savings and Loan Association Wednesday, succeeding Ira R. Beynon.

Hecht also was elected to the firm's board of directors at the annual stockholder meeting.

Total assets of the firm were $4,924,291 at yearend 1962 compared to $4,346,614 at yearend 1961. Savings deposits grew and real estate mortgages for the year 1962 were "substantially higher" than previous years, stockholders were told.

During the past year, the firm's offices at 126 So. 11th were completely renovated, and payment of dividends on a quarterly basis was adopted.

Re-elected to the board were Dr. G. O. Cast and R. H. Mohrman.

Officers elected, in addition to Hecht, were: Gerald Maddox, executive vice president; Lulu Runge, vice president; Dr. G. O. Cast, vice president; Richard D. Hitz, secretary-treasurer; G. A. Maixner, assistant secretary.

Dittman Heads Cornhusker Bank

Marcus A. Dittman was elected president of the Cornhusker Bank, succeeding his father-in-law G. A. Frampton at annual meeting sessions this week.

Dittman also heads the Central Bank at Central City. Frampton was elected chairman of the board at Cornhusker Bank.

Pope Says He's Ready To Die, Adds He's 'Still Well'

Vatican City (UPI)—Pope John XXIII Wednesday said he is "always ready" to die. But the 81-year old pontiff assured a general audience of about 1,000 persons that he is "still well."

It was the Pope's first apparent reference in some time to his recent illness which confined him to his private apartments for about a month. The Vatican said he was suffering from stomach trouble and anemia. Some other reports said the illness was far worse.

Referring to himself in both the first and third persons, the pontiff said:

"I can say that we are always ready to depart but, meanwhile, we are still well. You hear me, but above all I would like that you hear the beating of my heart for you."

The Pope exhorted his audience "to live in holiness and justice before the Lord and to work according to the directions that the Lord has given to men."

The pontiff pointed out that this was the feast day of St. Marcellus, who was pope in 308-309 during the persecution of Christians by the Roman Emperor Maxentius. He urged Christians to follow the example of St. Marcellus, noting, "It is much more easy today than then to be a Christian."

"We will disappear and our body will be dissolved," the pontiff said. "But it is our preceding activity that will count for the life to come."

17-Nation Talks On Disarmament Postponed Again

Geneva (AP) — The 17-nation disarmament conference has been postponed a second time, diplomatic informants reported Wednesday night.

The talks had originally been scheduled to resume Jan. 15, but were then put off to Feb. 12 following a request by Washington which is continuing the discussions with Soviet representatives.

Diplomatic sources said the resumption has now been put off a second time until the end of February at the request of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant. That will be after the Geneva U.N. conference on the application of science in economic development of needy nations. Thant said the Geneva U.N. staff would be overburdened if the two conferences were held at the same time.

REDS SAY THEY HAVE PLASTIC TALKING ROBOT

Moscow (AP) — Soviet technicians said Wednesday they have designed a mechanical robot that will walk around a Moscow museum, giving lectures.

The official labor newspaper Trud (labor) said the red and white plastic robot is 5-foot-9 and weighs 132 pounds.

"Its manner of walking," said Trud, "resembles the walking of a baby."

The robot is controlled by radio signals. Its voice is a loudspeaker through which flow sounds of tape recorded lectures about the displays at the Moscow Polytechnical Museum. It will go into operation next month.

TO START TESTS

Huntsville, Ala. (UPI) — A series of rocket tests will be started next month in an effort to learn more about air movements at altitudes of about 60 miles, the Marshall Space Flight Center said. Larger rockets and satellites have collected much information about conditions higher than 60 miles, and smaller rockets have investigated conditions below that point, the agency said, but a cap exists at the 60-mile level.

Sarah Woods Taken To Lincoln Hospital

Mrs. Thomas C. (Sarah) Woods Sr. of 2475 Lake, was admitted to Lincoln General Hospital this week following complications of a coronary condition.

According to her son, Thomas C. Woods Jr., Mrs. Woods is expected to remain under treatment at the hospital for some time.

No-Parking Light Bill Held For Study

The Public Works Committee Wednesday held for further consideration a bill which would prohibit motorists from using their parking lights instead of headlights while driving on Nebraska highways.

Action was deferred on the measure, LB2, to give committee members a chance to check on matters relating to its enforcement, and penalty provisions.

Sen. Dale Erlewine of Grant, introducer of the bill, said parking lights on a moving vehicle are dangerous in that they do not cast sufficient light and are misleading for gauging distances of approaching vehicles.

Colorado has a law similar to the one he has proposed, Erlewine said, as have two or 3 other states.

Also appearing in support of the measure were Norman Otto, administrative assistant to the governor; Richard Goodding, representative of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, and Sen. LeRoy Bahensky of St. Paul, member of the Public Works Committee.

Otto said Gov. Frank Morrison was very interested in the bill as one of many means to help improve highway safety.

The bill's penalty clause calls for a fine of up to $20 upon conviction.

Advanced to the floor by a 6-0 vote was LB3, a corrective measure dealing with control of billboard advertising on the Interstate Highway.

The bill, introduced by Sens. Michael P. Russillo of Omaha and Harold B. Stryker of Rising City, seeks to restore language apparently dropped inadvertently from legislation enacted in 1961 authorizing the state to control advertising along the Interstate.

The previously omitted material excludes application of the standards on highways traversing commercial or industrial zones within the daries of incorporated municipalities.

Report Morrison Cuts NU Request About $4 Million

By Associated Press

Reports circulated Wednesday that Gov. Frank Morrison, in his budget message to the Legislature next Monday, will recommend giving the University of Nebraska $4 million less than it asks — but $5 million more than the 1961 Legislature provided.

The University has asked $37.1 million in general fund appropriations for the two-year period beginning next July 1, up $9 million from the current biennium's allocation.

Sources Wednesday indicated the governor will recommend about $33 million.

Two years ago the governor supported a $5 million increase in the university appropriation, but the Legislature cut this back to $3 million.

In asking a $9 million boost this year, university officials say $5.7 million would go for maintaining present programs, with $3.3 million ticketed for growth and development.

Normal Board Might Change College Policy

The State Normal Board, which will hold its annual reorganization meeting here Monday, is considering a change in its policy of having "college committees" look out for the interests of the 4 state teachers colleges.

Normal Board Coordinator Freeman Decker Wednesday acknowledged board members have held informal talks on a change in this philosophy.

The presidents of the 4 teachers colleges tried unsuccessfully last year to end the committee system.

The committees have served as screening agencies dealing with problems and policy of the individual colleges. Each one is now staffed by at least 3 board members. There is some feeling the committees are too locally orientated, instead of having a statewide outlook, Dr. Decker noted.

He suggested an alternative to the college committee practice — an internal committee organization by subject area, such as curriculum, building needs and finance.

President's Brother-In-Law To Up Democratic Harmony

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy's brother-in-law, Stephen E. Smith, is going to try to restore Democratic harmony in some of the states where it counts.

The Democratic National Committee announced Wednesday that Smith, who did some of the preliminary spadework for Kennedy's 1960 presidential campaign, will take on the role of party troubleshooter.

The 35-year-old heir to a New York tugboat and barge fortune, who married Jean Kennedy in 1956, will have neither title nor salary.

In announcing the assignment, Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey told reporters:

Iron Out Problems

"I believe Steve will be very helpful in helping us iron out some of our problems before the 1964 elections. I am very happy to have him get into this field."

Bailey said he and Smith will go to New York shortly to see what the trouble there is. After that, Bailey said, Smith will turn his attention to trying to further party unity in Michigan, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

The Democrats in all 4 of these big states failed to elect their candidates for governor last November, and the Republican successes have disorganized local party affairs.

Help Mayor

On their first trip out, Smith and Bailey will try to help Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City settle local problems that have split party elements since the Democratic candidates for governor and senator lost last fall.

Another senatorial contest is coming up in New York in 1964, when Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating's term expires.

Smith was reared in New York with a family background in politics. His grandfather, William E. Cleary, was a 6-term member of Congress from New York's 9th District.

Last year he went nnto Massachusetts to help in the election of the President's brother, Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, to the Senate.

Will Learn

Asked what Smith knows about party affairs in Pennsylvania, Michigan and Ohio, Bailey said: "He'll learn."

In reply to another question, Bailey said he sees no prospect of Smith being groomed to succeed him as national chairman.

Smith recently has been managing the Kennedy family's business affairs during the serious illness of the President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, who suffered a stroke in December 1961.

Before that the chief executive's brother-in-law served as an unpaid consultant to the development loan fund, and as deputy director of the State Department's special operations center.

Bailey said that in his new assignment Smith will report directly to the President as well as to him as chairman.

ICE STACKED NEAR RULO

Ice is stacked from bank to bank on the Missouri River for several miles at this bend downstream from Rulo, Neb. Zero and near-zero weather recently froze over the river in several spots. The Kansas City Weather Bureau reported ice blocks from north of Atchison, Kan., to near Rulo.

Alex Lekai Will Head Immanuel Lutheran Board

Alex Lekai was named chairman of the board of trustees of Immanuel Lutheran Church for 1963-64, said Pastor William J. Roesler.

Pastor Roesler said Dale Schmidt was named chairman of the board of education, and Henry Filbert was appointed superintendent of Sunday School classes at the church's annual meeting.

John Miller, David Bork, Otto Meyer, Dale Schmidt, Peter Lutzi, Harold Spomer, August Woltemeyer and William Pabst have been named elders for the 1963-64 term.

Pastor Roesler said the budget for 1963-64 has been set at $24,000 which will include expenses for maintenance, missions and education.

Pastor Roesler said Mrs. Ruth Ernstmeyer has been engaged as organist for the second year.

'Fishing, Hunting Not Enough For Most Tourists'

Omaha (UPI)—Democratic Gov. Morrison of Nebraska Wednesday argued in support of creating a separate state tourist agency outside the present jurisdiction of the State Game Commission, which has been handling tourist matters.

Nebraska's Game Commission director, Melvin Steen, has been outspoken in favor of keeping tourism promotion within his department.

Morrison, addressing the Omaha Rotary Club, said fishing, hunting, and outdoor recreation offers only a fraction of what tourists seek.

"Eighty per cent want something else," he said.

Morrison estimated Nebraska is losing several hundred million dollars yearly "because it has failed to use its full tourism potential."

Wesleyan Board To Meet Friday

The Nebraska Wesleyan University Board of Trustees will hold its annual midwinter meeting Friday.

The meeting will feature a workshop session to brief the 48 trustees on the latest thinking and progress in 4 major operating areas of the college.

Workshops will be held on faculty, finances and business management, student personnel problems and program, and the Wesleyan image.

Stocks Take Large Loss

New York (AP) — The stock market's vigorous 1963 upswing finally ran into a sizable correction Wednesday. Prices took their biggest loss in more than a month. Trading was fairly active.

The largest recent gainers, generally speaking, took the worst losses. Among these was Chrysler, which fell 4⅝ to 81 on 168,800 shares as the most active stock.

While there are some other sharp losses throughout the list, most key stocks declined only by fractions. A good number were unchanged. A scattering of speculative favorites advanced strongly against the trend.

Among th 15 most heavily traded stocks there were a couple more gainers than losers.

Stocks fell back on a fairly broad front—steels, autos, oils, rails, utilities, tobaccos, aerospace issues, and chemicals.

The Dow Jones industrial average dropped 6.36 to 669.00.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.8 to 251.0 with industrials down 3.5, rails down .2, and utilities down .6.

Of 1,303 issues traded, 270 declined and 337 advanced. New highs for the year totaled 27. The two new lows were Corn Products Preferred new and McCrory 5½ per cent preferred.

Volume eased to 4.26 million shares from 4.54 million Tuesday.

Prices were irregularly lower on the American Stock Exchange as volume dwindled to 940,000 shares from Tuesday's 1.14 million.

Corporate bonds edged higher irregularly. U.S. government bonds were most unchanged.

Commie Terrorists 'Borrow' Paintings

Caracas (AP)—Waving guns and shouting communist slogans, a band of Venezuelan terrorists invaded an art museum Wednesday, herded a crowd of 400 students into a vestibule and seized 5 important French impressionist paintings on loan from France. The terrorists shouted they would use them for their political movement, then return them.

A high school student who stood in their way was shot and seriously wounded by a teenage girl in the band. Witnesses said the band was made up of about 15 terrorists, including 2 teenage girls.

Stripped from the walls were paintings insured for an estimated half a million dollars. They were identified as "Lilies In A Copper Vase," by Van Gogh, 1886; a 1929 still life by Picasso; an 1889 still life by Gauguin; a 1925 still life by Braque and "The Bathers" 1890 by Cezanne.

The raid on the museum was carried out in a half hour's time.

The paintings, part of a number sent by the French government's Louvre Museum and the Museum of Modern Art in Paris, were brought here by the Fina Gomez Foundation which said it paid France a special insurance premium.

Hans Neuman, foundation director, said he had no fears the bandits would sell the paintings but he expressed concern that they may be seriously damaged. The terrorists gave no hint of when and how they would return them.

Only Calendar Changed At Brainard Blacksmith Shop

By GENE BUDIG
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Brainard — The forge is still smoldering.

Only the calendar has changed since Louis Mergl came here to open a blacksmith shop.

MERGL . . . the village blacksmith.

"Me and my tools are getting pretty old," says Brainard's oldest active businessman, adding a shovel of coal to the dying flames.

He speaks with pride of his dated trade and his 40 years service.

"I'm only sorry blacksmithing can't live forever. It's been a good life," he says.

With a forced smile, the oldtimer who learned his trade in Czechoslovakia, admits both "me and the business" are getting slower each year.

"The farmers just don't need us like they used to," Merg says.

He relates most of his time is spent in sharpening plow blades because, "It's about all there is to do."

Looking around the shop he built in 1928, the smith confides, "You know, I would like to retire some day soon. I'm starting to get tired, real tired."

He still works an 8 to 5 day, 6 days a week.

Retirement isn't likely, however.

"Most everything I have is tied up in these 4 charred walls and I can't find anyone too interested in blacksmithing," he says.

Before moving to Brainard, Mergl ran a shop at nearby Loma, where he met his wife, the former Josephine Kantor. Five years before that, he arrived in the U.S. from "the old country."

Will Your Child Be a Leader?

The future of America depends on the activity of less than 2,000 people. Who are they? How did they attain such great responsibility? How can your child be a leader? Dr. Dewey Anderson, executive director of the Public Affairs Institute in Washington, discloses for the first time the answers to these and other questions.

Togo Forms New Regime; Junta Ceases

Lome, Togo (UPI)—Pro-French former Premier Nicolas Grunitzky, brother-in-law of assassinated Togo President Sylvanus Olympio, formed a new government Wednesday in this west African state.

Grunitzky took over the posts of premier, defense minister, interior minister and foreign affairs secretary.

His government replaces the Olympio regime, which was overthrown by a military coup Sunday. The president was shot down in front of the U.S. embassy during the revolt.

Grunitzky, 48, served as premier of this former French colony from 1956 to 1958, when he was defeated by Olympio, and went into exile.

He did not name any military men or any members of the 8-man revolutionary junta to his government.

The new premier said the revolutionary junta would cease to function at once despite earlier statements from junta members that their committee would remain until new elections are held.

Eleven Injured On Carrier As Cable Breaks

San Diego, Calif. (AP) — A steel arresting cable snapped when a jet fighter tried to land on the super carrier Constellation and whipped like a scythe at knee level across the deck.

Eleven men were injured, 5 seriously. Some lost limbs.

The Navy said two men lost both legs, another one leg.

It happened about 11 a.m. 110 miles west of San Diego, as pilots from nearby Miramar Naval Air Station were taking landing qualification tests.

Comdr. H. S. Matthews, 41, of nearby Coronado, let down in a Phantom II fighter. When the two-inch cable snapped, he applied power, took off, and was directed to return to Miramar. He didn't learn of the tragedy until he landed.

The wire that parted was the fourth from the stern. The cables are supposed to snag landing planes and jerk them to a stop.

Lt. Harry Huntsinger, flight surgeon who accompanied the injured in a plane to Balboa Hospital, said: "It was like a cracked whip. It had a guillotine effect. There was no time to get out of the way. It happened in a split second."

The severed cable, he said, snapped back in two directions, whirring into flight deck crewmen who stand by during operations.

The Navy blamed the cable break on failure of an arresting engine sheave.
